Negotiators Reach Agreement On Buffer Zone In Korea; Early Armistice

13 County Banks To Mail Christmas Club Checks Totaling Record $448,546

The largest distribution of preholiday wealth for Christmas club members in Adams county ever distributed by 13 county banking institutions will go into the mail within the next 10 days.

A total of $448,546.70 will be mailed to 6,283 Christmas club members.

New records for Adams county are set both by the amount of savings and by the number of club members.

The average check this year is $71.39 as compared with $68.54 last year.

Last year the same banks distributed $429,157 to 6,261 Christmas clubbers.

All Checks By Dec. 1

This year's new high represents a steady climb in total club savings in recent years. In 1945, county banks distributed $252,000; in 1946, $297,076; in 1947, $354,708; in 1948, $375,776; and 1949, $400,021.

Today's survey by The Gettysburg Times revealed that while 13 banks in the county operated Christmas clubs during 1951, all 14 of the county's banking institutions will conduct Christmas clubs next year. The new bank on the list is the Abbottstown State bank which will open its new club December 1.

Some of the banks will mail their checks next Monday and all checks will be in the mail by December 1.

Five Largest Clubs

The largest Christmas club sum in the county was that at the Gettysburg National bank where President C. A. Wills announced these totals this morning: Amount to be distributed, $111,564.75 and the number of club members, 1,442.

The largest club membership in the county was attained at the First National bank of Gettysburg where 1,604 club accounts were kept. The sum to be mailed out in checks totals $95,000.

Third position again was won by the Littlestown State bank with its 816-member club that reports total savings of $62,034.

The Farmers bank of McSherrystown ranks fourth with $51,124.50 to be mailed out to 740 club members.

The other bank among the top five is the Littlestown National where 510

EBERIGHT ON STAND IN OWN DEFENSE TODAY

Trial of Albert Eberight, Baltimore, former manager of the Adams County Cooperative Egg association, on charges of embezzling and fraudulent conversion of $21,791.41 and on a charge of issuing a bad check continued this afternoon with Eberight, the first witness of the defense, still on the stand.

During his testimony this morning and Wednesday, Eberight presented 65 checks and money orders, totaling approximately $55,000 which he said were from his account to the cooperative, or made out to pay persons selling things to the cooperative. He is accused of placing $21,791.41 of the cooperative's money in his own account.

Most of the morning's testimony consisted of Eberight identifying each check or money order. During cross examination much of the same procedure was followed, with Eberight answering "the check was made to the cooperative either to repay amounts of cooperative money paid into my acount, or as loans to the cooperative."

"My Account Didn't Matter"

The checks from Eberight to the cooperative—or to persons whom he said he paid personally for products sold the cooperative—included checks totaling $41,797.40 from Gettysburg and Littlestown banks, $9,825 in money orders sent from New York and Baltimore and $4,000 from a Baltimore bank.

Eberight said the money orders represented amounts he borrowed for the cooperative, usually on his own signature and then forwarded to the organization.

Asked during his testimony whether he kept an acount of how much he owed the cooperative and how much the cooperative owed him, Eberight said: "I had enough to do to keep the cooperative going. My little account did not matter." He put checks into the cooperative's account on the day they arrived.

Asked why he left the cooperative in early September, Eberight said:

Explains Absence

"We needed money and I went to New York to try to borrow some more. I saw the George D. Jaeger company and they refused to lend any more. June Dairy agreed to advance $7,500, but I was held up several days until they agreed. Then I went to Baltimore to try to get more money for the cooperative, and I called from there. The board was having a meeting and I asked if I should come up for it, but I was told I'd better stay and see if I could get more money. I found that I had exhausted my sources and then I was told by one of the men I went to see that I was no longer with the cooperative. I never was directly

Traffic Lights To Be Turned On At 6 A.M.

Gettysburg's traffic lights will begin operating each morning at 6 o'clock instead of 7 o'clock, effective Saturday morning, Burgess William G. Weaver announced this morning.

He said the change is being made by permission of the state Departmetn of Highways because all of the lights are on state highway routes.

Considerable traffic moves through the town before 7 a.m. each day the burgess pointed out, and there have been some crashes and other near accidents before the traffic lights were turned on.

The lights will continue to be turned off at 11 p.m., Burgess Weaver said.

CHARGE FATHER ABETTED SON IN HIDING VENISON

A Fairfield man paid a fine of $100 and costs to Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore this morning on a charge of possessing a deer killed out of season, and his father will be charged with aiding and abetting the son in the concealment of the deer.

Robert Weikert, Fairfield, was charged with illegal possession this morning by Game Protector Leo Bushman, after the latter had obtained a search warrant, and found the deer at the Weikert home, according to Squire Basehore.

Orphanage Gets Deer

The father, Howard L. Weikert, also of Fairfield, will be forwarded a copy of the charge filed by Bushman and notified to appear voluntarily before Squire Basehore. If he fails to appear, a warrant will be issued for his arrest. Conviction carries a $100 fine.

The deer, a sixpoint buck, was shot Sunday, authorities said. It was taken today to the Hoffman orphanage. Bushman was assisted in the prosecution of the case by two deputy game protectors and two state policemen.

COURT ORDERS DOPE ADDICT TO ENTER HOSPITAL

Frank Tipton, 34-year-old Silver Run grandfather, was given a suspended sentence Wednesday afternoon by the Adams county court on charges of obtaining narcotics by fraudulent means and forging prescriptions.

The court placed Tipton on probation for five years, with one of the conditions being that he enter the U. S. Public Health hospital, Lexington, Kentucky, until in the opinion of the chief medical officer there he is cured. He is then to report to the Adams county court.

Dr. Edward C. Hickory, Media, of the state bureau of narcotics, who placed the charges against Tipton before Justice of the Peace F. Loy Lindaman, Littlestown, told the court that Tipton, a truck driver, had obtained prescription blanks and had forged the names of Dr. P. D. Zulich and Dr. D. B. Coover, of Littlestown, to the blanks in order to obtain morphine from drug stores in New Oxford, York, Gettysburg and Hanover. Dates on the prescriptions extend back to June.

Doctor Hickory told the court application had already been made for Tipton's admission to the Lexington hospital, and said he expected he would enter the institution in about a week. Tipton remains in the local jail until his transfer to the hospital. Doctor Hickory added that the Lexington hospital was chosen, because "unfortunately Pennsylvania does not have a hospital to care for drug addicts."

Park Ranger Turns In Alarm On Blaze

A National Park ranger, making his rounds of the battlefield at 10:45 o'clock Wednesday night, called the Gettysburg fire department to extinguish a blaze on the borough dump, north of the Baltimore pike. The fire was burning along the edge of the woods and government property. Booster lines were used.

At 5:45 o'clock this morning firemen were called to the home of Hersh Lauver, 144 West High street, to extinguish a chimney fire. There was no damage, firemen said.

Boy, 14, Admits Bonneauville Fires; Loss Is Near $50,000

A 14-year-old Bonneauville boy was charged today by representatives of the state fire marshal's office with setting five fires in Bonneauville within recent weeks which destroyed property valued at between $40,000 and $50,000.

Jack Arms, of the fire marshal's office said the youth would be turned over to juvenile court. The boy, he said, admitted setting the fires and told officers how each was done.

The first serious fire which the boy admitted setting, according to Arms, was the one on the night of October 15, which caused serious damage to St. Joseph's parochial school. He also admitted an attempt to fire the same building five nights earlier.

Fired School Curtains

Associated with Arms in the investigation of the suspected arson case, since the school fire, was James Walsh, also of the Pennsylvania state police fire marshal's office, a former member of the state police substation here.

Arms said they learned that the boy stuffed lighted papers into a ventilator at the Bonneauville school. The papers dropped to the basement, where the fire was discovered and extinguished by the janitor.

On the night of October 15, the boy climbed through an unlocked window at the school, and using papers as a torch, set fire to the curtains on the stage, according to the investigators.

The next fire was that which destroyed the T. Ambrose Myers barn November 8 almost opposite the school. Arms said the boy used matches to set the hay afire in this case.

Gives No Reason

Next to catch fire was a small barn on the Peter Keyser estate, at the rear of the John Weaver store in Bonneauville, November 15. Again lighted papers were used. Bonneauville firemen estinguished the blaze.

The boy returned to the Keyser barn and fired it again at 11 o'clock Thursday morning, using twine, according to Arms. He then turned in the alarm and helped firemen extinguish the fire. The boy was present at the previous fires also.

Arms said the boy could ascribe no reason for setting the fires. The boy is a pupil at the school.

6 INJURED IN NEARBY CRASH

Six persons were injured at 7:45 o'clock Thursday night when an automobile operated by Wayne F. Taylor, 18, Flora Dale, traveling south on the Emmitsburg road four and a half miles south of Gettysburg, crashed into a stalled car.

State police of the Gettysburg substation, who investigated said the automobile of Mrs. Robert Bushman, 35, Gettysburg R. 2, had stalled in a private driveway, and had been pushed onto the highway facing south, in an attempt to start it.

The Taylor car struck the right rear of the Bushman automobile. Mrs. Bushman was thrown out and was treated for contusions of the back. Taylor was treated for a laceration of the forehead and sprain of the right wrist. Three other youths in the Taylor car were also injured. Richard Black, 17, Bendersville, was treated for contusions of the jaw; Eugene McCauslin, 16, Biglerville R. 1, laceration of the forehead. Helen Ruby, 23, Gettysburg R. 2, an occupant of the Bushman car, was treated for scratches of both legs.

The injured were brought to the Warner hospital in the ambulance where they were treated and discharged. Damage to the Taylor car was estimated at $450 and to the Bushman car at $150.

Liaison Officers Are Preparing Map Of Demarcation Line; Three Big Issues Face Truce Delegates

Seoul, Korea, Nov. 23 (AP) — Jets clashed over Korea today for the first time in five days. The fight came just 12 hours after superforts bombed a new Red jet base two miles from Red China's Manchurian frontier.

Two MIG-15s were damaged in a battle in bright sunlight between about 30 Red jets and 30 American F-84 Thunderjets, the U. S. Fifth air force reported. It said all Thunderjets returned safely.

During the night twelve B-29 Superforts ignored an angry cordon of Red jets and roared through intense flak in the first bombing raid on the Communists' Uiju jet base.

All B-29s Return

The strike was effective, Far East air forces said. It reported all B-29s returned from the raid two miles south of the Yalu river boundary.

This strike so close to the "sanctuary of Manchuria" pointed up the mounting Allied effort to block off the growing Communist air threat and keep the Reds from setting up bases in North Korea closer to the battle line.

Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, chief of the U. S. air force, warned in Washington that Red China has emerged suddenly as a major air power. He said this new-born air force with Russian type jets and Russian speaking pilots has broken Allied air supremacy in Korea although the United Nations still holds superiority.

MIGs Nest In Korea

Allied spotter planes recently reported MIGs nesting in Korea for the first time in the war. The field was Uiju. F-86 Sabre jets strafed the field Sunday, caught 11 MIGs on a taxi strip and reported eight destroyed or damaged.

Then the big Superforts hit last night.

The B-29s spilled 100-pound bombs at the 7,100 foot runway and dropped quarter-ton airbursting bombs which hurl jagged chunks of steel at planes hidden in revetments.

Munsan, Korea, Nov. 23 (AP)—Truce negotiators reached agreement on a buffer zone clause today, opening the way for a possible armistice in Korea by Christmas.

"We have reached agreement insofar as the wording is concerned," Rear Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, U.N. command subcommitteeman, told correspondents. "The only thing left now is for the liaison officers who are working on the map to finish."

Agreement on the buffer zone issue came at the 29th subcommittee meeting at Panmunjom.

If the agreement is approved by the full truce delegations, as expected, negotiators would have 30 days in which to solve three other tough problems—supervision of the armistice, exchange of war prisoners and recommendations to the belligerent governments.

Fighting Continues

Fighting will continue in the war, now 17 months old, until all of these points are settled.

Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes, chief U.N. command subcommitteeman, indicated the full five-man delegations could meet Sunday to approve the buffer zone agreement worked out by subcommittees.

Staff officers Friday started mapping the actual line of battle contact. This is to become the formal ceasefire line if an armistice is signed within 30 days. Hodes said they may complete the job Saturday.

"We are waiting until whatever time is appropriate to meet again and make—we hope sometime tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon—the final settlement on the line," Hodes said.

Final Approval Delayed

Hodes said that if the staff officers disagree on just where the battle line is, the subcommittees will settle the dispute.

The staff officers meet again at 10 a.m. Saturday (8 p.m. Friday EST).

Final approval of the buffer zone agreement was delayed during Friday's 50-minute session because Communist delegates wanted to check the translation into Chinese and Korean of the U.N. command revision of the Reds' own cease-fire proposals.

They called for a recess to compare the versions. Later a spokesman said the "wording" was approved.

The plan provides that the present battle line shall be the formal ceasefire line if an armistice is signed within 30 days.

If no agreement is reached before the deadline, a new demarcation line incorporating changes resulting from military action will be drawn just before an armistice is signed. Then both armies will pull back to create a buffer zone 2½ miles wide.

The plan states specifically that the war will continue during the 30-day period.

Bullets Lace Diplomats 40-20 At Lancaster As Coach Bream Winds Up Successful Career

After spotting Franklin and Marshall a 7-0 lead in the first period, the Gettysburg college gridders opened back with four touchdowns in the second period and went on to defeat the Diplomats 40-20 in the annual Thanksgiving Day classic at Lancaster Thursday afternoon before 10,000 fans.

The decisive victory was a fitting climax for Coach "Hen" Bream who ended his 25-year Bullet coaching career with the game. During his quarter of a century of coaching the Bullets won 104 tilts, lost 69 and tied 7.

It looked as though the Diplomats might duplicate last year's one-sided victory when they took the opening kickoff and marched 70 yards for a score, Hepler racing around right end on a pitch-out from the 9 to score after 4:20 minutes. Mischissin place-kicked the extra point.

The Diplomats threatened a short time later when Witmer got away on a 45-yard run to reach the Bullets' 9. Witmer hit center for five yards before Dick Thomas tossed them for a six-yard loss on the next play. Gettysburg knocked down two passes and the threat was over as the tide of the battle seemed to turn with that play.

Day Makes Diving Catch

Gettysburg's big second period got underway early in the quarter when Werst booted out on the Bullets' 20. Jerky Ward, who gave a brillant display of passing throughout the afternoon, fired passes to Walt Hemperger and Gene Coder for a pair of first downs to reach F. and M.'s 25. Bob Eppelman got four yards on two tries and then a pass was bounced.

On the next play Joe Day made a sensational diving catch of Ward's pass in the end zone for the score. Bill Pratt's placement for the point was wide.

The Bream-men moved 71 yards for their next score which featured a pair of passes from Ward to Day and Ujobai, plus a bit of nice running on the part of Eppelman. Ward dropped back and fired a pass to Day in the end zone from the 26-yard line to put Gettysburg in front 13-7 after 10:26 minutes of the quarter. This time Pratt booted the point.

A partially blocked punt on the first down gave the Bullets the ball on the F. and M. 46 a short time later to pave the way to the third touchdown. Displaying a mixed attack of passing and running, the Bream-men reeled off three straight first downs to reach the 2 from where Ward scored on a quarterback sneak after the Diplomats had held for two plays. Pratt made the score 19-7 with his placement as the clock showed but 44 seconds remaining in the half.

Forbes Intercepts

The next score came with lightning-quickness. Werst returned the kickoff to his 23. A pass was incomplete and on another pass attempt Bullet linesman broke through to partially block the ball which fell into the hands of Bill Forbes, who romped unhindered from the 15. Pratt made the half time score 27-7 with his boot.

It took the Bullets less than three minutes to add their fifth score after receiving the second half kickoff. Passes from Ward to Hemberger and Ward to Coder put the ball on the Diplomats' 8. After Ujobai got two yards on a plunge Ward fired his third TD pass to Coder in the end zone. Again Pratt converted via a placement.

F. and M. braced somewhat the remainder of the third period and midway in the stanza picked up four straight first downs only to lose the ball on the Gettysburg 12 where the Bullets made a determined stand.

Westerdahl Scores

After losing 12 yards on an attempted pass, Ward booted to Mischissin on the Gettysburg 28 to set the stage for F. and M.'s second tally. A pass, Werst to Winter, put the ball on the 10. On fourth down Witter heaved a pass to Bruce Westerdahl, former Gettysburg high star, in the end zone for the score. Mischissin added the point on a placement.

The third Diplomat score was set up by Mischissin, who intercepted a pass to return to the Bullet 46. A pair of passes carried the ball to the 7 from where Davis took the ball on a Statue-of-Liberty play and raced. Mischissin's kick for the point was wide.

Gettysburg drove 68 yards for its final score after receiving the kickoff. Ujobai, Rossetti, Eppelman and Ward led the running attack which was good for three first downs. A 15-yard penalty against the Diplomats put the ball on the 2 and two plays later Rossetti plowed over. Pratt's boot was good but a 15-yard penalty nullified the try and his second boot failed.

Fifth Straight Win

The victory marked the sixth in nine starts for the Bullets and gave them five-in-a-row to conclude their campaign. They now hold a 25-24 edge over F. and M. in their series, four games ending in a tie.

FAVOR BAKER TO WIN TONIGHT

New York, Nov. 23 (AP)—Bulky Bob Baker of Pittsburgh was rated a 9 to 5 choice to whip Clarence Henry in Madison Square Garden tonight and earn a shot at ex-heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles.

This is the showpiece for both boys. They've been climbing steadily up the ladder. Baker, unbeaten in 26 bouts, has moved to a No. 4 ranking. Henry, with a 28-2-1 record, is right behind Baker.

A crowd of 7,000 or 8,000 probably will watch them in the Garden but other fans will eye their clash via NBC's network telecast. ABC will handle the broadcast. The ten rounder will start at 10 p.m. (EST).

"This is it," said Baker. "This is my big chance. Make a hit in New York and on T.V. and you're in the dough. I guess Henry feels the same way. It will be blood and guts in there."

Henry is fully aware of the importance of the bout to his future. "Yeah, this is the big one," said the Los Angeles negro, "and Baker is a big guy. But so was Embrel Davidson and other guys I knocked out. I got a good left hand. If Baker can be hit, I'll hit him."

MANY BIG GAMES NEAR AS GRID SEASON FADES

New York, Nov. 23 (AP)—College football nears the end of a hectic 1951 season tomorrow, with a heavy New Year's Day bowl atmosphere hovering over the top games on the scattered grid front.

Tennessee and Kentucky, both already invited to January 1 bowls, clash at Lexington in what looms as the chief attraction of the afternoon.

Tennessee, the nation's No. 1 team until proven otherwise, already is in the Sugar Bowl against Maryland. Kentucky, beaten three times but improving each week, has accepted a Cotton Bowl berth.

Tennessee, which upset Kentucky last year, is a seven-point choice over the Wildcats, the nation's No. 9 club.

But from the Big Ten, the Southwest and the Pacific Coast sectors, bowl and would-be bowlers tangle in important struggles.

Three Bg Ten teams still with a chance for the Rose Bowl share midwest attention. Illinois, with the inside track, can clinch it with victory or even a tie against Northwestern at Evanstone, Ill. Purdue meets Indiana and Wisconsin, the No. 8 team this week, plays Minnesota. The situation is full of "ifs."

If Northwestern beats Illinois, the nation's No. 6 team, Purdue can win the championship by defeating Indiana. If both Purdue and Illinois are beaten, Wisconsin can win by taking Minnesota. The Illini are favored by 11½ points.

Stanford, unbeaten in nine games and certain to be the host Pacific Coast team in the Rose Bowl, meets California in the far west's stellar attraction at Palo Alto. Stan rules a 6½-point choice. The Indians are the No. 3 team in the land.

Other Big Games

In the Southwest, four teams remain in the running for the conference flag and a crack at Kentucky in the Cotton Bowl. They are Rice, Texas Christian, Baylor and Texas.

Rice and Texas Christian, tied for the lead, play in the big one at Fort Worth with TCU favored by a touchdown. At Waco, Baylor meets dangerous Southern Methodist. Baylor is a seven-point favorite. Texas and Texas AandM rest until they meet Thursday, November 29. It may go down to December 1, when Rice plays Baylor, No. 10, and TCU meets Southern Methodist.

Others in the top 10 this week appear to have fairly easy sailing. Michigan State, the No. 2 outfit, meets Colorado at East Lansing to close out its season.

Maryland takes on West Virginia at College Park, but should have little trouble defending its No. 4 rating. Princeton, No. 5, winds up against Dartmouth at Princeton. The No. 7 team, Georgia Tech, plays Davidson in Atlanta. Georgia Tech already has accepted the Orange Bowl bid, against an undecided opponent.

SQUIRES CLOSE WITH TRIUMPH

Delone Catholic high crushed the Westminster Owls 41-13 Thursday at Westminster to pull its season's final gridiron record to 5-5.

Tom G. Smith was the big gun for the Squires as he tallied four touchdowns. In the opening period he ran 70 yards, added 26-yard TD runs in the second and third quarters, and galloped 32 yards around end in the final period.

Harry Mumma swept end from the nine-yard mark in the opening period while Tom E. Smith went over from the 9 in the third period.

Miller booted three extra points for the Squires, another came on a pass, Mumma to T. G. Smith, and the last was on an end run by O'Brien.

Westminster scored both its touchdowns in the second period. Zuck plunged over from the 1 for the first tally while Kelbaugh whipped a pass to Zuck which was good for 55 yards and a score. Barrick added the point after the first touchdown on a line plunge.

LIONS DEFEAT PACKERS 52-35

Detroit, Nov. 23 (AP) — The title-hungry Detroit Lions will eye the outcome of the National Football league clash between the champion Cleveland Browns and Chicago Bears Sunday as keenly as any fan.

"We'll take the Western Division title if somebody can knock the Bears off for us," agree Coach Buddy Parker and his Lions.

Detroit boomed into a first-place tie in the division with the Bears and Los Angeles Rams by a 52-35 victory over the Green Bay Packers yesterday.

The Lions showed explosive power to 33,452 Thanksgiving fans in the stands and thousands more at television screens. Trailing 21-10, they jammed across six speedy touchdowns in the second and third periods. The Lions, Bears and Rams have each won six and lost two. Detroit has a tie on its record and that may hurt the Lions in the long run.

BIGLERVILLE IS HOST TO GRID SQUAD, PARENTS

Approximately 125 persons attended the third annual banquet given by Biglerville high school Wednesday night in the school cafeteria for the high school and junior high school football squads. Parents and patrons were special guests.

Johnny Yovicsin, a member of the football coaching staff of Gettysburg college, was the guest speaker. He spoke on the values of football in developing character, self-reliance, confidence and leadership.

Pref. L. V. Stock, supervising principal of the school, spoke briefly thanking all for the cooperation shown through the season. He also publicly thanked the C. H. Musselman company for the new electric scoreboard which was erected this fall.

Squads Introduced

Hobart Benchoff and William Coradetti, varsity coaches, introduced their squad members and Clair Settle, junior high mentor, introduced his squad.

Arthur M. Gordon, school athletic director, presided as toastmaster. The invocation was given by Prof. Charles Yost of the faculty.

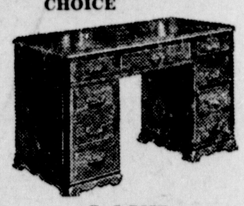

Among those present was Ken Trimmer, varsity tackle, who had been hospitalized after suffering a fractured leg in the Boiling Springs game.

Other special guests included Mrs. Coradetti, and Miss Anna Snyder, Owen Voight, Les Blair and Eddie Shoop, of the staff of WGET.

The turkey dinner was prepared and served by members of the school economics classes.

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

UNDER A POSTAGE STAMP

Things written and mailed under a postage stamp have often changed the course of a life! And many a communication under that stamp has helped to change the world by bettering it in one way or another. I have an entire shelf in my library devoted to published letters of many of my idols and heroes in life and literature.

Letters are such a personal form of expression—the sincerest and most genuine that any of us have the opportunity to free from our mind and heart. An unexpected letter from a stranger—what a joy, if it is one of encouragement and appreciation! And how alive letters keep love, from and to those near and dear to us. The most welcome of all callers each of our days is that cheerful man whom we know as the mail man.

So often I hear someone say: "I hate to write letters, but I like to get them!" We cannot hope to get—ever—without giving. Each one of us could easily take the time each day to write at least one letter to someone whom we know or love, and what happy expectations as the returns come in!

Letters mean more to our boys in Korea and in other locations, where they are serving the ends of peace, than anything else. More than money or gifts. They just want to know how everyone is at home, news about the town, about their friends, perhaps about their favorite dog—they want to know about everything—simple happenings, and written as though they were just on a trip or vacation. They want good news. Oh, what a boost, and high quality of joy, can be massed under a postage stamp! There is no disappointment so deep to the soldier as to receive no mail when it is distributed.

Letters are so revealing. You really do not know a person until you have the privilege of reading his letters, for he puts himself in them. I have learned more about writers from their published letters than from their books. They are so autobiographical. We put bits of ourselves under a postage stamp!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Rivers."

REMORSE

Thought I could handle it just as of old,
Scorning the warnings the doctor had told.
"You're not as young as you were," he had said.
"Don't over do it. Eat lightly instead."
Offered two helpings I wouldn't be bluffed.
I was the Thanksgiving bird that was stuffed.

Thought I could manage it. Time was I could.
Appetite hearty; digestion was good.
The turkey was tempting; the dressing first rate:
Twice for more everything passed up my plate.
Now for my folly I'm paying the price,
Wishing I'd taken the doctor's advice.

Awake the night long with a stomach upset
Moaning: "It must have been something I 'et.'"
Groaning: "I never could understand why
Heartburn should follow two pieces of pie."
After the dinner, my middle so puffed
I left the table the bird that was stuffed.

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 23 (AP) — Mrs. Joe Humble was miffed when her policeman-husband went hunting at 6 a.m. yesterday without her. An hour later, she took her gun afield. Another half hour and she dropped an eight-point 175-pound deer. Came nightfall—and Joe, empty handed.

Jails Sons To Cure Their Dope Habits

New York, Nov. 23 (AP)—A heartbroken father has sent two sons to jail within the past week—to stop them from using dope, and perhaps cure them of the habit permanently.

Last Thursday Rafael Charres, 55, tearfully signed a narcotics complaint against his 20-year-old son, Frank. Yesterday, his heart even heavier, the father signed a similar complaint against 18-year-old Antonio.

Both youths had received treatment in a federal institution at Lexington, Ky. But since they were discharged, they drifted back into the dope habit.

Authorities have promised to try to rehabilitate the youths, who must stay in jail pending further court action. They are not angry with their father. They're grateful, both said, and hope they can be cured.

CANCER TAKES GALE BOY'S LIFE

Alameda, Calif., Nov. 23 (AP) — Little Rodney Gale did not live to celebrate the premature Christmas arranged for him by his parents and hundreds of well wishers.

The 3-year-old died of cancer, in his sleep last night.

Rodney had been ill since August. Tuesday his parents, Mr. and Mrs. LeeRoy Gale, made the heartbreaking decision to let their son die as soon as possible, rather than live in pain a few weeks longer.

A doctor told them he might keep Rodney alive two or three months with a special compound.

"We decided against it," Mrs. Gale said. "It would only prolong his misery. And he's miserable enough now."

A party was planned tomorrow to give Rodney "a little Christmas cheer before he died." When his family announced the plans, hundreds of well wishers brought gifts to the poverty-stricken Gale home.

There were toys, hams, turkeys, and clothing. Three nuns from Berkeley came with a decorated Christmas tree. Though Rodney died before his party, he knew that gifts had come and was cheered by them, Mrs. Gale said.

Seeks Passage Of Loyalty Oath Bill

Harrisburg, Nov. 23 (AP)—A Republican House leader said today he will seek early passage of a long-disputed loyalty oath bill for public employes when the House resumes sessions December 10.

Rep. Ivan Watkins (R.-Schuylkill), chairman of the House State Government committee, told a reporter he will make "every effort" to win House approval of the measure.

The controversial bill would require anti-Communist oaths by all public workers in the state, including school teachers and elected officials. It has been deadlocked in the lower chamber since passing the Senate last March.

"Sentiment now is definitely in favor of this bill and I am going to try to get it through," Watkins said. He added that many House members previously opposed to the measure have now assured him they will support the measure.

OPS Is A Little Tired Hearing Cabbage Story

Washington, Nov. 23 (AP) — The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) is a little tired of hearing about cabbage.

The cabbage routine evidently started last August in Memphis. Price Boss Mike DiSalle was the main speaker at a banquet, and was introduced in a long speech.

During this long introduction the toastmaster got a laugh by saying:

"Lincoln's Gettysburg address contains 266 words.

"The Ten Commandments contain 297 words.

"The Declaration of Independence contains 300 words.

"The OPS order to reduce the price of cabbage contains 26,911 words."

DiSalle got a laugh, too, by opening his speech with:

"It took the toastmaster about 26,000 words to introduce me."

If DiSalle figured his wisecrack would wilt the cabbage story, he was wrong.

Max Hall, OPS information director, told me today the story continues to bob up.

It has appeared as a letter to the editor of a New York paper.

It was quoted in an editorial in Wisconsin.

It appeared in some material put out by a grocery manufacturers' association.

A congressman has written in to ask for a copy of the OPS regulations on cabbage.

All of which is pretty remarkable because fresh fruits and vegetables are not under regulations. So OPS never has put out any kind of cabbage order, much less a 26,911 worder.

"Of course," Hall acknowledges, "we have some long and complicated orders on other things."

But why pick on innocent cabbage?

Messner Astounded By Economy League

Harrisburg, Nov. 23 (AP)—Otto P. Messner, state revenue secretary, says he was "astounded" by some of the figures used by the Pennsylvania Economy league in a league report on the commonwealth's finances.

The report issued by the nonprofit, fact-finding agency claimed that Gov. John S. Fine's proposed $1,220,000,000 budget for the next two years can be met without "new or additional taxes."

Criticizing figures used by the league in its table of estimated revenues, Messner said "it is evident that they have not given much study to the individual items." He said the Revenue Department has "always made available" an information it had but that the league "has never contacted us."

"It is strange," Messner said, "that a group interesting itself in matters of state income should not ask the state's Department of Revenue for some figures."

Earlier, the president of the Pennsylvania State Education association took issue with the Economy league's claim that no new taxes are needed.

4 PA. COLLEGES PLAY THURSDAY

(By The Associated Press)

The fast-waning college grid season saw only four Pennsylvania colleges in action on Thanksgiving Day and only five games involving Keystone state teams scheduled for tomorrow (Saturday).

Lebanon Valley college dropped a 27-20 game to Morris Harvey of Charleston, W. Va., in the seventh annual Burley Bowl game at Johnson City, Tenn.

Gettysburg, with Berky Ward passing for three touchdowns and scoring one himself, blasted Franklin and Marshall college, 40 to 20, in the 54th meeting of the two colleges. It was the final game for Gettysburg Coach Hen Bream who is retiring after 25 years as Bullet mentor.

In their traditional Thanksgiving game Lincoln university of Oxford, Pa., defeated Howard university of Washington, D. C., 13 to 0.

University of Pittsburgh and Penn State hold their annual contest tomorrow at Pittsburgh.

Albright and West Chester Teachers meet at Reading in the first annual Pretzel Bowl contest, with proceeds going ot the Shriners' Crippled Children's hospital at Philadelphia.

Penn and Cornell clash at Franklin field to close their seasons. The Wildcats of Villanova are on their way to Shreveport where they meet Louisiana State university tomorrow. Temple university travels to Worcester, Mass., to meet Holy Cross. Villanova has a date December 1 at Tulsa and Pitt goes to Miami, Fla., December 7 to wind up regularly scheduled seasons.

Bucknell, which ended an unbeaten, untied season by defeating Delaware last week, rejected a bid to compete in the Tangerine Bowl game January 1 at Orlando, Fla. Bison officials said they were unable to accept terms of the bid. Bucknell has yet to act on several other bowl "feelers." One is the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex.

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 23 (AP)—The National Grange says this country needs improved educational conditions and calls on the Defense Production Administration to boost its allocation of steel for construction of schools.

A resolution to that effect was passed yesterday by delegates attending the farm group's 85th annual session. Schools have become more crowded this year and DPA's steel allocation for 1951 was insufficient to meet essential school construction, the resolution said.

Harrisburg, Nov. 23 (AP)—A 26-7 victory over Steelton won the central Pennsylvania high school football league championship for Williamsport here yesterday. It was the Millionaires' seventh straight victory in the eight-game league. Williamsport shared the title last year with Harrisburg's William Penn. In another game John Harris topped William Penn to win the Harrisburg city championship.

Harrisburg, Nov. 23 (AP)—Attorney General Robert E. Woodside believes Pennsylvania law adequately protects sports events in the state from bribery. The commonwealth's chief law officer said that "insofar as legal penalties can be a deterrent to such crimes Pennsylvania's protection is adequate."

Woodside made his comment in view of recent sports bribery convictions following basketball "fixes" in New York. Pennsylvania's penalties for such bribery were increased by the 1951 Legislature from a maximum of three years in jail or a $3,000 fine, or both, to 10 years in jail or a $10,000 fine, or both.

THE PEOPLE AT WORSHIP

Exodus 29:43-46, 35:21-29

Memory Selection: Take ye from among you an offering unto Jehovah; whosoever is of a willing heart, let him bring it, Jehovah's offering. Exodus 35:5.

It became apparent to Moses that his people required the experience obtained in the true worship of their God. That meant, as it always does, complete dependence, adoration, repentance, obedience, service, thanksgiving. Worship implies all that. There is no other attitude towards God that includes so much.

The Need Of Worship

Many incidents occurred while escaping from Egyptian slavery and heading towards Canaan which showed the lack of full reliance upon God. Often when the going was difficult they "murmured." Jehovah had forsaken them and Moses was not to be trusted, they said. This came to a climax when they fashioned the golden calf and worshipped it. While their leader was in the mountain receiving the law for their guidance, the people in the plain below made a pitiful attempt to obtain the help they felt was needed.

So from Jehovah Moses obtained the specifications for orderly and satisfying worship. They should not again be tempted to put their faith in idols. The instructions were many and given in detail. A tabernacle was to be erected and men appointed to carry out the given ritual. This was the place for the people to meet. And best of all, Jehovah would meet with them. "They shall know that I am the Lord their God." Two things would be accomplished: The Lord, and not idols, was leading the people; and there was to be spiritual fellowship with Him. In a way, the tabernacle was the forerunner of the present Church. At the opening of many a worship service one hears the declaration: "The Lord is in His holy temple, let all the earth keep silence before Him." There is no higher experience in life than to keep fellowship with God. It is the consciousness of the Divine Presence that gives assurance to life, and reveals obligations to be met for the Lord's sake.

Giving In Worship

Not long before the tabernacle was erected the Israelites had brought precious metals for use in fashioning the golden calf. Now there poured in from all sides offerings of silver and gold and precious stones to be used in adorning the tabernacle. And women spun and sewed fined linens for the required appointments. How readily can giving be directed into worthwhile channels when the spirit of God is present! And the record tells that all was brought as "a willing

BULLETINS

Washington, Nov. 21 (AP) — Announced U.S. battle casualties in Korea reached 100,176 Wednesday.

The Defense department's weekly summary, reporting an increase of 950 since last week, sent the total over the 100,000 mark. By comparison, U.S. combat casualties in the first year of this country's participation in World War II were 59,000.

Washington, Nov. 23 (AP) — Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg said Wednesday the Allies' "complete air superiority over Korea is now being seriously challenged by the MIGs but so far the situation is in hand."

The Air Force chief of staff told a long and grim news conference that possible "serious potentials" exist. Among these he listed the fact that "overnight China has become one of the major air powers of the world."

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Nov. 23 (AP) — Hungary and Romania complained officially that a United States Army cargo plane — still missing after being fired on by the satellitte border guards Monday — crossed over their territories illegally. Notes were presented to the American missions in Budapest and Bucharest, even as U.S. planes prepared to search over Yugoslavia for the missing C-47 transport, which disappeared Monday with four crewmen and diplomatic cargo aboard.

Paris, Nov. 23 (AP) — The United Nations Palestine conciliation commission has announced its failure to settle Arab-Israeli differences. The commission said it had called off the fruitless talks begun here Aug. 10 because neither party showed willingness to make concessions.

Washington, Nov. 23 (AP)—Venerable Amos Alonzo Stagg, a football coach for more than 60 of his 89 years, has made a plea for the preservation of the game. "I don't want to see this game lost and it must not be," the erect, white-maned gridiron mentor told the Touchdown club of Washington at a luncheon on Tuesday.

War may be everyone's funeral—peace should be everyone's business.

KITTENS, MITTENS, and LIFE...

"Three little kittens lost their mittens . . ." Bobby is thoroughly absorbed in the antics of the kittens. He will be pleased to discover that at the end of the story they find their mittens again. Like all children, he wants his stories to have happy endings.

But soon Bobby is going to find out that life's stories don't all have happy endings. Bobby is growing up, out of the land of fairies and elves, into the world of reality. Bobby must learn to meet sorrow with understanding, pain with courage, prosperity with thankfulness, defeat with hope, success with humility—he must learn to face life.

The Church School is waiting with open doors for Bobby, your Bobby. The Church School is prepared to show your children the best ways to make life a success. The Church School is ready to teach your children—in the language of children—the eternal truths of life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.

U.S. DROP GERMAN SCIENTISTS AID UNCLE SAM

Washington, Nov. 23 (AP)—Almost half the experts from Germany's top World War Two guided missile project are now settled down with their families at Redstone arsenal, Huntsville, Ala., helping develop missile weapons for the United States.

The Army Ordnance Corps brought over about 130 of the 300 or so key technical men from Peenemunde—key Nazi missile station on the Baltic—shortly after the war. They were the only group of scientists in the world who had up to that time produced a guided missile that would work as a weapon. The V-2 rockets they produced became one of the most dangerous weapons used against Great Britain late in the war.

The Germans—engineers, scientists and other experts—were first taken to Fort Bliss, Texas. Some assisted for a time in the assembling and launching of guided missiles at White Sands, N. M., where almost 700 V-2's have been fired.

They were all taken to Redstone in September, 1950, when the Army Ordnance Corps made that arsenal its guided missile center. At Redstone it consolidated all its work in the basic research and development of guided missiles.

Dr. Werner Von Braun, a high ranking Pennemunde scientist, has top authority among the Germans, but Americans are in charge of the project, and many Americans work beside the Germans.

FARM SHOW TO BREAK RECORDS

Harrisburg, Nov. 23 (AP)—The 36th annual Pennsylvania Farm show on January 14 to 18 is expected to shatter all standing records for attendance, exhibits and prize money.

The record-breaking in cash awards to farm exhibitors has already been assured by the Farm show commission's announcement that $55,100 will be awarded at this show.

The show first started in 1917 out of exhibits of fruit and grains scattered throughout the state. Throughout the years the purpose of the exhibition has remained the improvement of and incentive for a greater Pennsylvania agriculture.

The commission, which runs the show, is composed of Gov. John S. Fine, Secretary Miles Horst, of the Department of Agriculture, W. S. Hagar, of the department's enforcement division, and representatives of various farm groups throughout the state. The 49 farm groups in the state send three delegates each to the commission. Last year's attendance topped all previous years with 591,000.

New York, Nov. 23 (AP) — Ohio's proposed turnpike hit a new snag Tuesday—and it may take a special session of the state Legislature to remove it.

The investment firms who were supposed to put up the money for the $300,000,000 toll road across northern Ohio said there is a defect in the turnpike law, and they couldn't put up the money unless the law is changed. They said the law fails to give the Turnpike Commission power to take immediate possession of property for right-of-way. The commission would have to wait until condemnation actions finally are decided.

16 Are Killed In Plane Crash in India

New Delhi, India, Nov. 23 (AP) — Sixteen persons were killed in the crash of an Indian airliner at Calcutta's Dum Dum airport. The 17th person aboard was reported in a serious condition.

The plane, operated by Deccan airways, was completing a flight from New Delhi to Calcutta and crashed as it came in for a landing.

First reports said all 14 passengers and three crew members aboard were killed. A communique later said that 15 were killed and two injured in the crash, but that one of the injured died en route to the hospital.

The dead included Deshbandhu Gupta, managing editor of the Delhi Indian News Chronicle and president of the All-India Newspaper Editors conference, and A. C. Hines, security officer of the British high commissioner's Calcutta office.

PLANE BURSTS; COUPLE KILLED

Bedford, Pa., Nov. 23 (AP)—A man and a woman whose airplane had been guided to a safe landing only a few hours before crashed to their death three miles from Bedford Tuesday.

Police identified the victims as W. L. Doyle, about 36, of Toledo, O., and Mrs. Virginia Bartlett, also about 36, of Indianapolis.

At Toledo, Doyle's wife said Mrs. Bartlett had been a secretary and business associate of Doyle.

In Washington, D. C., Capt. Millard Lossing of Pittsburgh, All American Airways pilot, said he encountered the couple while piloting his 24-passenger DC-3 from Pittsburgh.

Lossing said he was between Altoona, Pa., and Hagerstown, Md., when he heard Doyle report he was lost, running low on gasoline and buffeted by strong northwest winds.

Lossing climbed from 3,000 to 4,500 feet, spotted it above the cloud layer and guided it down to a landing at Hagerstown airport.

Plane Explodes

Doyle, who said he was enroute from Harrisburg to Dayton, O., spent an hour and 20 minutes refueling at Hagerstown, then took off again.

A few hours later the plane exploded in air, the wreckage plunging into a wood south of Bedford at the base of Wills mountain. The bodies of a man and a woman were found about 150 yards from the main part of the wreckage.

John A. Christ, who was working nearby, said:

"The plane skimmed over the tree tops and then suddenly exploded. The bodies fell out of the plane and plummeted to the ground."

Bedford police said Arnold G. Siefker of Indianapolis phoned to them and said:

"The woman killed in the plane crash is my daughter."

East Berlin

James W. Shetter, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Shetter, a freshman at Trinity college, Hartford, Conn., is spending the Thanksgiving recess at the home of his parents.

11 YANKEES BRING BRIDES FROM KOREA

Tokyo, Nov. 23 (AP)—Eleven couples and three children boarded a military air transport service plane on Wednesday bound for the United States—the first group of American husbands and Korean wives to make the trip.

Among them are Sgt. Paul R. Dillman and Eugene N. Carbaugh, of South Mountain, Pa., and their war brides.

Dillman and Carbaugh, like the other nine soldiers, saw long service with the Korean military advisory group.

The two Pennsylvanians enlisted in the army at the same time and went to Korea in March, 1948. They served there together and now they have left it together, both married.

Plane Due Thursday

Mrs. Sun Chung Dillman, a shy 21-year-old Korean, said, "I think I like very much going to America. I much want to see Paul's relatives."

"She never had much family of her own," put in the husband, two years her senior. "It was all split up. But now she'll have mine."

Carbaugh's bride is a tall, attractive Chinese. She is a native of Peiping, but went to Seoul in 1946. She speaks excellent English.

Dillman and Carbaugh were married last February 14—St. Valentine's day—in a Presbyterian missionary chapel at Taegu, Korea. It really was a triple ceremony. The other groom was Sgt. Raymond W. Rash, of Neshkoro, Mich., who also is taking his wife home.

offering unto the Lord." The ornaments which people had "borrowed" from their well-to-do Egyptian neighbors, and valuables they had taken from the soldiers drowned in the sea were precious to the Hebrews but they freely gave them up when once their hearts were drawn to Jehovah. It was an act of true worship.

Other Virtues

There were willing hands ready to aid in the construction of the tabernacle. Men workers skilled in metals; women workers skilled in fine linens donated their services. Their work was worship and down through the long years during which God had been patient with His people service has been a virtue. It received its highest exaltation when Jesus came not to be served but to serve.

True worship implies obedience. The Israelites had difficulty in remembering that. But once they bowed their faces in worship before the sacred Ark they gave expression of their obedience to God and His directions. After such worship consecration of one's whole life to the Lord follows. Then becomes real the cry of the dedicated soul, "Here am I, send me." By means of such willingness to serve with ready obedience the Kingdom of God is advancing. A tireless worker in relief for war sufferers died a few weeks ago. It was said that he had distributed over 40 million dollars in money and goods. That represented offerings from thousands who had caught the spirit of genuine worship and work.

Gratitude is another virtue present when God is worshipped in spirit and in truth. The Israelites frequently forgot they had been made a free people. Modern pilgrims too often forget to give thanks for the favorable circumstances into which their lot has fallen. Our national Thanksgiving Day should be occasion for wholehearted gratitude, for our blessings are many. Worship on that day should be devout and universal. Feasting and merrymaking should be secondary.

Many and significant lessons may be learned from the ancient Israelites at work in building a tabernacle where they could have fellowship with their God, and with one another.

WOMAN'S CLUB

of H. Dean Stover, president. The Welfare committee will make the gift selections. This committee is composed of Mrs. Joseph R. Riden, chairman; Mrs. Clayton L. Evans, Mrs. William H. Marshman, Mrs. John LeGore, Mrs. John Kindig, Mrs. Gilbert Foyston and Mrs. Vernon Snyder. Club members are requested to take their donations for the annual Christmas baskets for the needy of the community, which are packed each year by the Welfare committee, to the December meeting.

It was announced that public meetings at the fire engine house must be discontinued until the fire escape and exit lights have been installed. Girl Scouts have been holding their meetings at the homes of the troop leaders. Mrs. Charles E. Fissell and Mrs. Carroll E. Arter were appointed to contact the officials of the fire company and of the borough to urge speedy installation, so that the meeting may be resumed at the engine house, where the club spent nearly $200 for redecoratons, so that there would be a suitable meeting place for the Girl Scouts. The fire escape was removed while the new addition was being built.

German Girl Speaker

Miss Ursula Naugel, an exchange student from the Eichelberger senior high school, Hanover, a native of Hannover, Germany, and B. Henry Shafer, teacher of American History at the Hanover high school, were the speakers. Miss Naugel spoke on her impressions of America and gave facts about her native country. She said that "the greatest surprise to me is that people are not as different as I expected—in America as in Germany there are the same sorrows, the same hopes, the same ambitions." The Pennsylvania Dutch dialect and the landscape of this vicinity have helped her feel at home, as well as the warmth and friendliness of the people, she said.

Miss Naugel said it would seem that the children here have a happier childhood and growing-up period. "In Germany there are 60,000 children under 20 years of age, who have no homes, no parents and who the all-out effort of orphanages, practically live on the streets, despite church and civic groups," she said. Another source of surprise, she said, is the number of churches and the way the average person works for and attends the services. She concluded her remarks with the statement, "We cannot hope to build a bridge across the ocean, but we can build a bridge of hearts to span the America." Miss Naugel observed her eighteenth birthday on Thanksgiving day, and the club members sang "Happy Birthday" to her.

Mr. Shafer spoke to the gathering on "Americanism," prefacing his remarks with the statement that "the strength and fibre of Americanism are being tested today." He denounced the materialistic viewpoint, and the character defamation practiced by too many officials. Mr. Shafer stated that everybody should be concerned with the crisis in public education today, when less money is spent on education, than on either alcohol, cosmetics or tobacco. After a lesson in un-Americanism, Mr. Shafer gave the nine promises which a good citizen should make and he closed his remarks by reading the poem "The American Way."

Plan Christmas Party

The speakers were introduced by Mrs. Charles W. Weikert, chairman of the program committee. Assisting her were Mrs. Leon H. Gage, Mrs. George P. Smith, Mrs. J. Robert Sell, Mrs. John H. Flickinger, Mrs. Dewey Strevig and Mrs. Esther Wolfe. Also appearing on the program was Stewart N. Long, tenor, who sang a medley from "The Desert Song"; "It's the Loveliest Night of the Year," from "The Great Caruso" and "Why Do I Love You," from "Showboat," with Mrs. J. Robert Sell as piano accompanist.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the program to the 50 members in attendance by a committee composed of Mrs. Melvin B. Wehler, chairman, Mrs. Millard E. Basehoar, Jr., Mrs. Edna Geiselman, Mrs. Noah Brown, Mrs. E. Roy Kindig, Mrs. Ralph Snyder, Mrs. Claude Snyder and Mrs. Monroe Stavely.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Wednesday, December 19, and will be a Christmas party, with each member taking a 50c gift for exchange. The program committee includes Mrs. Charles E. Tressler, chairman, Mrs. John H. Fleming, Mrs. Anna B. Leach, Mrs. Rodney L. Law, Mrs. Carl H. Baumgardner, Mrs. James W. Fager, Mrs. Mary Luckenbaugh, Miss LeOra Held and Mrs. Clyde W. Crouse. The hostess committee for the party is composed of Mrs. Leroy W. Bish, chairman, Mrs. Hamilton C. Walker, Mrs. John H. Way, Mrs. Carrie Strine, Mrs. Ralph Staley, Mrs. Holman L. Sell, Mrs. J. Donald Lemmon and Mrs. Melvin Miller.

In Memoriam 3

In loving memory of a dear mother, Hattie Fidler, who passed away one year ago, Wednesday, November 23, 1950:

You can only have one mother,
Patient, kind and true.
No other friend in all the world
Will be so true to you.

All her loving kindness,
She asks nothing in return.
If all the world deserts you,
To your mother you can turn.

So all I can do, Dear Mother,
Is to go and tend your grave
And leave behind a token of love
To the best mother God ever gave.

Sadly missed by her husband and children.

DEDICATE NEW ORGAN AT MOUNT

An organ presented to Mt. St. Mary's seminary, Emmitsburg, by Bishop George L. Leech and his priests of the Harrisburg Catholic Diocese was blessed at ceremonies at the seminary Wednesday.

The service was preached by the Rev. Anthony J. Mahan, rector of St. Joan of Arc church, Hershey. The organ recital which followed was presented by Bernard B. Wert, choirmaster and organist at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Harrisburg.

Wert played "Prelude Fugue and Chaconne," by Buxtehude; "Benedictus," by Couperin; "Dies Est Laetitiae," by Bach; "Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring," by Bach, and "Mareh Pontifical."

The seminary choir sang under direction of the Rev. David W. Shaum. The organ was blessed by the Very Rev. Joseph F. O'Donnell, rector of the seminary. The program closed with a solemn benediction of the most blessed sacrament by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Patrick F. McGee of St. Mary's church, McSherrystown. Deacon and subdeacon for the ceremony were the Rev. Cyril Allwein of St. Andrew's church, Waynesboro, and the Rev. Joseph Gotwalt of St. Vincent's church, Hanover, respectively.

Harrisburg, Nov. 21 (AP) — Gov. John S. Fine has issued a respite staying the execution of Cleveland Thompson, convicted Allegheny slayer, from the week of November 26 to the week of January 14.

A spokesman for the governor's office said the respite was granted to permit Thompson to appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court. Thompson was convicted of shooting bartender Wallace Russell in Pittsburgh's Barbary Coast cafe on September 21, 1950.

EBERIGHT ON

notified that I was no longer manager."

Asked why he went to New Jersey instead of returning to Gettysburg, Eberight said: "One of the men in Baltimore told me Mr. Teeter planned to bring criminal charges so I went to my sister to try to borrow money for attorneys' fees and expenses I knew would be coming up. By then I had no money of my own, I had to borrow more."

Didn't Take Full Commission

The Jaeger company in New York originally paid within a few days after receiving eggs, Eberight said, but then, at the cooperative's request it sent advances for eggs daily. "At first," Eberight said, "Jaeger paid the market price for eggs until we hit the flush season, and the eggs were off grade and some eggs they paid two or three cents below and sometimes five cents below the market price. They took advantage of our situation. I tried to stop this, and put the eggs with some other concern, but we depended on those daily money orders from Jaeger as the life blood of our business."

Eberight said he had drawn his salary, but drew only one cent a case commission on the sales. He was authorized to take three and later four cents a case on eggs, but said that the cooperative's financial condition did not permit him to take the full amount.

Shows Own Checks

Sixteen checks, totaling $24,298, were presented in court Wednesday afternoon by Eberight which he said were checks from his account to the Adams County Cooperative Egg association covering the 30 checks of the cooperative, totaling $21,791.41, which he is accused of embezzling from the cooperative and fraudulently converting to his own use.

The Eberight checks, dated from April through August, are for the most part direct to the cooperative itself. Three of the checks, totaling $2,089.65, one issued in May and the other two in August, are to concerns in payment, Eberight said, of debts of the cooperative. The cooperative, he said, had no funds at the time the creditors were present for payment, so he made out the checks from his own account to them.

Eberight said he began a custom of placing checks from out-of-state concerns into his own bank account and then issuing checks from his account to the cooperative when banks refused to honor the out-of-state checks before they cleared with the banks on which they were drawn.

Kept Two Members Informed

He described an involved method of cashing checks at one Gettysburg bank and then sending the cash to another local bank and later cashing checks at a Littlestown bank and sending checks or cash to the Gettysburg National bank in order to cover checks drawn on the cooperative which were to be presented for payment that day.

While the banks, Eberight claimed, would not honor the out-of-state checks immediately, they would onor checks from his account, he said and thus he kept gaining a day for the cooperative by the round-about method of turning over the receipts paid for eggs to the cooperative. He said the method was necessary because the cooperative was constantly in need of capital. Eberight added that he kept either President Richard Musselman or Director Edgar Weaner informed of what he was doing, and then brought up the entire matter at monthly board meetings.

Two Rings And A Car

He claimed he left late in August, just before the cooperative closed, in a vain attempt to borrow $20,000 for the cooperative, and said he had borrowed $8,000 for the cooperative, giving as security two diamond rings and a car. He said that he will "probably have" to forfeit the rings and car in December when the note for $8,000 comes due. Eberight added that he borrowed $6,000 for the cooperative from a Milton Brown, of Baltimore. He secured the money, he said, without putting up security, but since Brown has become insistent about payment. Eberight said his wife had paid $4,700 of her own money on it.

In his testimony Eberight said the cooperative had only $48 in its bank account the day he took over management in February, and said he spent much of his time seeking additional capital to keep the place going. He added, "My duties did not include being bookkeeper."

Mrs. Doris Spangler, bookkeeper for the cooperative, testified to statements by Eberight at a pre-trial conference that he had had no egg dealings of his own, other than the cooperative's, with any egg or poultry buyers since he became manager of the cooperative.

Complicated Explanations

She added that the books of the cooperative would not show how much was owed by the various concerns buying eggs from the cooperative because "we made no entry in the books until the companies sent their checks in for the eggs they bought." She explained that "it was customary not to make any entry" because "we didn't know what the prices were for the eggs."

C. Samuel Daley, auditor, said his study of the books of the cooperative, plus a check with those who bought eggs from the cooperative and those whom the cooperative owed, showed the cooperative to be $118,339.83 in debt.

A balance sheet of December 31, 1950, was the starting point for his audit, Daley said. He added: "We started from there because we had to start some place and because the figures shown on the balance sheet of December 31 seemed reasonable. It showed the cooperative $4,225.74 in debt at that time. For some items we had to go back before that date, but our findings seemed to bear out what was shown. Since the final figure of loss includes the $4,225 as of the end of the previous year, the actual loss during the nine months was about $114,000.

As of the actual close of business at the cooperative September 13 the cooperative had issued checks totaling $19,415, on various banks, more than the amount it had in those banks, Daley said.

Legitimate Reason

By WILLARD CLVAN PERSING

I glanced up at the corny gag above the delivery room door, "We have never lost a father," I grinned at the thought of the hospital having to take it down after all these years. The fellow pacing up and down in front of it looked as though he might take off and fly at any moment, he was that nervous.

Things were too quiet for Nek Year's Eve. I had just phoned Mac, the city editor, to report the condition of a hit and run victim, and Mac had told me to hang around the hospital till he called back. I had been impatiently waiting to get out and see what was going on when I noticed this fellow trying to wear a groove in the floor. Just for laughs, I sat down where I could watch him without being too obvious.

On Verge Of Hysteria

There aren't many men who can take that in their stride, but this fellow was outworrying any that I had seen there before; he seemed on the verge of hysteria. He kept looking at the big clock on the wall and then checking it with his wristwatch. I noticed that it was seven minutes till twelve, but that didn't seem important enough to explain the condition of his nerves.

My curiosity got the better of me so I got up and offered him a cigarette when I saw him groping around in an empty pack. His thin features relaxed into a vacant smile of thanks for a moment, but then he frowned again as he looked up at the clock and then at the closed door.

"Congratulations," I said, "that's quite a start toward a family."

Congratulations

"Your first?" I asked him.

He nodded without taking his eyes quite a start toward a family."

He gave me a serious look, then smiled self-consciously. "Yes, isn't off the door. "Triplets, they took an X-ray last week."

"Congratulations," I said. "That's it?" Then, after a quick glance at the clock, his attention was back on the door.

Thinking that talking about it might help, I asked, "No complications, are there?"

"Oh, no. The doctor said he thought everything would be all right."

From the tone of his answer, I knew that angle wasn't causing all his anxiety. I caught myself glancing up at the clock each time he did. I was beginning to wonder if he had escaped from the psychopathic ward. Maybe there wasn't anyone in the delivery room. No one had entered or left it since I had been there.

He had managed to use up two of my cigarettes in four minutes; the old year was all but gone, and so was this poor devil. He couldn't even light the third one; I had to light it for him. I thought he was going to pass out when he looked up at the clock and saw that thirty seconds had passed while we were getting that cigarette lit.

Just as I was glancing around to make sure there wasn't anything loose that he could use for a weapon if he got violent, the door opened and a red-headed nurse poked her head out.

"Two boys and a girl," she announced. The grin on her face let us know that everything was all right. "We'll let you see your wife and the babies as soon as we make 'em presentable. Happy New Year!"

As she shut the door, I looked back at the father. I came closer to being surprised at what I saw than I have been in several years. I wondered if this could be the same fellow that had been eating my cigarettes just before the nurse stuck her head out the door. He was completely calm, with just a touch of the proud smile that is normal in such cases. That got me.

An Easy Job

"The doctor in there had the easy part of this job," I told him. "I thought sure I was going to lose the father."

He grinned at that. "I was a little worked up, wasn't I?"

"Mister," I snorted, "that's a lulu of an understatement. There must have been something else involved to get you all steamed up like you were."

"Is three hundred dollars worth getting steamed up about?"

I admitted that I had been steamed up over a lot less.

He smiled at my puzzled expression. "By getting here before midnight, those kids saved me three hundred dollars on my income tax. I was a little afraid they weren't going to make it."

Mistletoe Outlived Sinister Meaning

Mistletoe, once used as a weapon of death, is now almost a universal symbol of love and peace.

According to Norse mythology there was a god named Balder, who personified the sun. Loki, another god, plotted to destroy Balder.

Balder's mother, when she first learned of Loki's intentions to kill her son, obtained a promise from all living things that they would not harm Balder. All agreed, but the mistletoe, so it was with a mistletoe arrow that Loki induced Balder's blind brother, Hoder, to kill the sun god.

Higher powers intervened, however, and Balder was restored to life. The mistletoe was placed under Frigga's care, and the mother of Balda saw that it was never again be used as an instrument of evil.

The custom of giving a kiss of love or peace beneath the mistletoe is an assurance that it will never again be used as an instrument of evil.

NEW YEAR NEWS

By ANNA YARBROUGH

Every afternoon pretty close to five, Zodie Wilson sauntered down the street to the corner drugstore, and ordered a glass of milk. Of course he had milk in the refrigerator at home, but Amy, his wife, had been confined to her room for two years with a crippled knee, and Amy got desperately hungry for news. Zodie knew of no better place to gather news than at the drugstore.

So, on New Year's Zodie sat down at his customary place at the little table at the back of the drugstore, and asked for his glass of milk. He slowly supped his milk, hoping that someone would come and join him. The glass began to empty. And Zodie's spirits sank. Amy would be awfully disappointed if he didn't learn a single new thing to tell her.

Rather absently, he noticed Valeria Cloud, the banker's daughter, coming toward the back of the store. She was just a young girl, she would n't want to talk to anyone as old as he. She'd join the young folks at the next table.

Valeria Is Unhappy

"Hello, Mr. Wilson," Valeria smiled, but her blue eyes weren't happy at all.

"Hidy, Miss Valeria," Zodie said, wondering why anyone so pretty, so young, so healthy-looking wouldn't be happy.

"Mind if I join you?" Valeria sat down without waiting for an answer.

"Mr. Wilson . . ." Valeria's voice trailed off.

Zodie's heart thumped; he knew that Valerie would tell him something important.

"Yes," he said to encourage her.

Consult Mr. Wilson

"Mr. Wilson, do you remember when you were janitor at West Side high, and all of us kids brought our problems to you, and you solved them for us?"

"That I do, Miss Valeria." Zodie's face wrinkled thoughtfully.

"That I do, Miss Valeria," Zodie's face wrinkled thoughtfully.

He watched the pink creep up Valeria's fair throat.

"Well, Mr. Wilson, Mother's about to drive me nuts. She wants me to marry Larry Elberts, you know, that long-faced teller at Dad's bank," she paused and bit down on her underlip, then went on, "and you and the rest of the town know that I've been head over heels in love with Ted Barney ever since my high school days. Of course, Ted didn't get too much education, and works at the foundry. Oh, Mr. Wilson, Mother says perfectly horrid things about Ted . . ."

"Ted's a good boy."

Valeria nodded and went on talking, "Mother's tongue is getting sharper all the time . . ."

Zodie cut in, "Miss Valeria don't blame your mother too much."

"And why not?"

Mother Disappointed

Zodie straightened his old shoulders, "it's this way. Your mother has been disappointed with life . . ."

"Disappointed with life? Why Dad hops every time she yells."

Zodie nodded, "I know. You see, your mother loved me, but married your father because he had money. Her mother talked her into it. I never really blamed Trudy. But that's why Trudy has such a sharp tongue, living all these years without love."

"Really, Mr. Wilson?" Valeria's blue eyes widened, "I'm going and call Ted and tell him we'll start this New Year off right by getting married. I don't want my tongue to grow sharp like poor mother's."

Zodie smiled as he walked home.

"That you, honey?" his wife called as he opened the front door.

"Yes, Amy," he hurried to his wife's room.

Wife Learns News

She was propped up in the bed. Her pretty, blond hair freshly combed. He knew she had been watching out the window for him to come up the street.

He carefully related the news about Valeria's problem and the solution that he had tried to suggest.

Amy laughed until tears ran from her eyes. "Zodie Wilson, you old fraud," she said tenderly, "you never had a date with Valeria's mother in your life."

Zodie started to speak, then thought better of it, and kept silent for a second before he said, "I guess I better fix us some supper.'

As he went to the kitchen, he thought: "That was a long time before I met Amy. It's just as well she thinks I made it up."

Many Versions Of How Giving Began

There are many interesting versions as to how the custom of gift giving at Christmas time started.

Some believe that it all came from ancient England, where it was once custom to hang kissing rings in the great halls. These rings were decorated with mistletoe and were the key for a pleasant holiday pastime. It is said that the young knights and ladies would come to the kissing rings with Christmas roses for their secret sweetheart.

This started it all. Now gift giving is traditional.

"PINATA" COMING FROM MEXICO

The pinata, Christmas custom so long observed by the happy children of Mexico, is gradually spreading into the United States.

Although it performs year-around duty in the land south of the border, the pinata is busiest during the Mexican Christian festival that lasts from December 16 to January 6. In America, it is used in various parts of the country only at Christmas time.

The pinata is made of thin, fragile clay, and is filled with sweetmeats and trinkets before being suspended from the ceiling.

Each of the guests, not always only just children—is blindfolded and given a stick. The object is to swing the sticks overhead until someone shatters the pinata, sending the delicious contents pouring out.

The pinata is a great aid in making the long Christmas season tolerable for Mexican children. Tradition decrees that they must wait until the final day of the 21-day Christmas season to receive their gifts.

U. S. Top Buyer And Xmas Tree Supplier

The United States is the world's leading source of supply as well as the top buyer in the Christmas tree industry—a better than $50,000,000 business.

The majority of our Christmas trees come from New England, New York and Pennsylvania, the north Middlewest, and the Northwest Pacific regions. In recent years, New Jersey has annually marketed around 100,000 trees for local use.

Most of the trees for Christmas sales are cut early in the fall and the trees are kept green with plenty of water until shipped to distribution centers.

Some mass producers, however, cut trees early in the new year, and treat them with preservatives and coloring solutions for storage in chilled warehouses.

By RICHARD HILL WILKINSON

Mrs. Sothern was desperately in need of money, and so when she came across the Currier and Ives print she thought right off that it might be possible to sell the picture to a collector for a considerable sum. The painting was dusty and fly-specked and encased in a heavy, antiquated gold frame, but she carried it down to the kitchen and cleaned it as best she could, and then called in Burt.

"It's been in the attic for years," she explained. "Mother had it a long time ago. And you know some Currier and Ives prints are worth fortunes."

Burt scratched his chin and scrutinized the barely distinguishable signature. He nodded slowly. "You might get something for it at that," he said. "It's a Currier and Ives all right, and its sure enough old."

"Oh, Burt, wouldn't it be wonderful if we could! Why, it would just solve everything!"

Calls Collector

Burt grinned. "Well, there's no harm in trying. More I look at it the more I think it might bring a price. Tell you what I'll do: I'll call Moe Avery. He's a collector and he'll buy it if it's worth anything."

So Burt went to the 'phone and called Moe Avery. "He'll be here in an hour's time,' he told his wife a moment later. "We'd better not get too optimistic though. Probably turn out to be worthless."

"Oh, Burt, you don't think it will! Why—why I'd be satisfied it it brought $50!"

"Ought to bring that," said Burt. "Ought to bring more! However no use in getting optimistic."

Mrs. Sothern sighed. "Fifty dollars!" she said. "Think of it. Just think of all the things we could do. But there. As you say, I mustn't get optimistic."

"That's best," Burt agreed. "Even $25 is a lot of money to us."

They talked about the prospects and possibilities, both pro and con, undergoing various sensations of hope and fear and optimism and

Mrs. Sothern held her breath while he bent to study the painting.

misgivings, until finally the door bell rang and Burt admitted Moe Avery.

Moe was a brisk and efficient little man .He greeted them briefly, and then produced his glasses.

"How long?" he asked, "has this print been in your family?"

"Oh, ever so long," said Mrs. Sothern. "I—I've rather lost track."

"Hum," said Moe. "You've been saving it?"

"Yes," said Mrs. Sothern, "we've been saving it."

The collector removed his glasses, carefully returned them to his case and put the case into his pocket. His face wore a doleful expression. He sighed heavily. "I'm afraid," he said, "that I can't offer you enough to make it worth your while to sell. I'm sorry."

She said, striving to keep her voice under control: "Just a minute, Mr. Avery. We do need the money, and I've gone to the bother of carrying it way down stairs—"

Mr. Avery hesitated. "No," he said presently. "I can't do it. It would be robbery. Tell you what: I'll call a collector friend of mine and send him out."

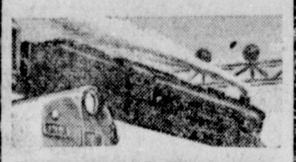

Mrs. Sothern Is Panicky

Mrs. Sothern felt a little panicky. What if the collector friend couldn't

WISS PINKING SHEARS
KA-BAR KNIVES

By EDWARD L. VAN DYKE

I'll never forget, I guess, the December night when our American Legion post meeting was interrupted by a knock on the door.

Carl Engler, our third vice commander, was nearest the door. He glanced at the commander, then left the room. Out in the hall we could hear a high pitched voice saying something about "mama and daddy." Soon Engler returned, looking up on Hollister Hill. Wilson's a veteran who's always knocking the Legion—never would join the post. Let's listen to what his boy has to say."

"Mister Commander," he said, "there's a boy outside who says he'd like to speak to the post. Says his name is David Cary and that what he has to say is mighty important."

Harry Brooks, our commander, a balding veteran of both world wars, arose.

"Comrades," says he, "I've an idea this lad is the son of Wilson Cary,

4 Days Before Xmas

Young David that night really stirred up our meeting. It was just four days before Christmas; not too many members were present and all were anxious to get home. They boy stood gravely before us men and spoke his piece.

With a groan he raised himself on one elbow and shook his fist.

When the lad had left, gravely saluting the flag, just as he had seen Engler do, the commander turned to me.

"Comrade Butler," he said, "I appoint you chairman of a committee of six to look into this. Will someone make a motion that the committee be allowed to use up to fifty dollars, if it finds it proper in this case?"

The motion was duly made and everyone shouted "aye."

Not Much Snow

I drove up ahead of the gang that Saturday night—Christmas Eve. There wasn't much snow, but the roads were badly rutted and I made rather poor time on this, my second trip up the hill.

The Cary house was a neatly kept place, just off the hillside road. When I knocked at the door, Mrs. Cary let me in. She looked tired and worried.

"Oh, Mr. Butler," she said, her face brightening, "I'm glad you came." She lowered her voice. "Bill is pretty unhappy and bitter tonight—you know why. Walk right in."

Wilson Cary's expression was a mixture of pain and bitterness. He didn't even offer me his hand.

"Now don't wish me a Merry Christmas," he said harshly. "A man can't be happy when he has a broken hip; is dead broke on Christmas Eve—and has a nice wife and kid on his mind."

I was thinking that, too. "Where's David?" I asked.

"He's asleep," said Cary.

"You Legionnaires with your constitutional preamble of promoting peace and good will on earth," he snapped. "Fine words, sure—but words don't help my wife and kid. I'm sorry—glad you came, Butler—but I think you'd better go."

Then came the knock on the door—the sound I had been waiting for.

Gang Tramps In

You should have seen Mrs. Cary when the gang tramped in. There was Engler, carrying so many packages he almost staggered and behind him came McCarthy, Lepkowski, Dunn and Epstein, all with their arms full, too. The boys, you see, had chipped in some of their own cash.

Wilson Cary stared in amazement when we moved in. The packages, save those containing food, we piled near the foot of the bed.

"Bill," I said, "Carl Field Post really perked up, though, when that just learned the other day about your being laid up. The boys just want you to know you're not forgotten."

Cary's lips were trembling. "How did you know about it?" he demanded. When I didn't answer, he spoke again.

"Why are you doing this—I'm not a post member, you know."

"Bill," I said, "you mentioned the Legion preamble a minute ago. Maybe you don't know, but it winds up with these words—'and sanctify our conradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness."

My committee members were grinning happily. But Cary wasn't—he was crying like a kid.

"Come," I said to my gang, "let's get the heck out of here."

Great Britain's public debt as of March 31, 1951, was approximately $72,251,908,000.

CANDLES FOR Christmas

Candles have lighted Christmas eve around the world for generations.

It has long been a custom in Ireland to place a lighted candle in the window to guide the Christ-child on his way, and the use of candles appears in other lands in many ways.

In Czechoslovakia, for example, tiny candles are set upright in nutshells and floated in pans of water. Armenians use myriads of candles in preparing their Christmas decorations.

At unique church services in Labrador each child receives a little lighted candle standing in a turnip, is eaten.

Nn Norway, families arrive at church on Christmas eve, each carrying a flaming torch. These are stuck in the snow while the goodfolk attend the services.

pay them anything? After all, Mr. Avery knew them and was bound to be sympathetic. The collector friend might be merely an excuse.

Mr. Avery looked from one to the other of them. "Well, all right, since you insist. But don't feel insulted at my low figure. I realize what you have here, all right. Don't mistake that. But ready cash is scarce, and it's the best I can do."

Mrs. Sothern had visions of $3 even $2. The suspense was making her nervous. She said: "Well, what is your offer, Mr. Avery?"

The collector took a deep breath. "O. K. Now, remember and don't throw me out. It's a rare print—we all know that—but the best I can offer right now is $1,300."

"Thirteen hun—" Burt tried to catch his wife before she hit the floor. But he missed. She was conscious again when the doctor arrived.

"She'll be all right," the doc said, "in a few minutes. Must have got a slight shock. . . . Well, I'll be running along. Merry Christmas."

"Thanks," said Burt. "Yeah, Merry Christmas. Yeah, Merry Christmas. . . . Yow! MERRY CHRISTMAS! You bet!"

By SHIRLEY SARGENT

Harley Davis was always wanting something. He knew Christmas was only two weeks off, but he just itched to buy a gondola car for his electric train. One day he ditched his little sister, Charlene, and hurried down town. He spent his entire monthly allowance and all his savings for a blue gondola car. Harley hoped his mother wouldn't be angry because he had been gone all afternoon. He hoped.

Contrary to his expectations, Mrs. Davis was jovial, teasing him, and even, to his immense relief, keeping Charlene away from his package. Charlene was five and a pest to Harley, because he was nine and grown up. Helping mother with the dishes that night was almost fun, Harley thought; she was so friendly and nice. Then it happened.

Harley Is Stunned

"Harley," his mother said tenderly, "Don't tell me what you bought unless you want to, but what did you get for Charlene?"

Harley was stunned. He wished she wouldn't smile at him — couldn't she see he was trying to think? "Nothing, mom," he stammered, "I bought a gondola car."

"Oh," she wiped a plate slowly, "I thought you had been Christmas shopping."

"I guess I spent all my money; I guess I sort of forgot about Christmas presents," Harley hung his head.

"Yes, I guess you did," she answered and that was all she said about it, but he felt terrible. He didn't even unwrap his new car.

Gee, he'd really pulled a dumb trick this time, Harley thought miserably. He'd always bought them presents, but he'd completely forgotten it. Well, he'd have to earn some money; even his piggy bank was empty. He earned a quarter the next morning shoveling snow, but he had to take care of Charlene most of the time.

Harley was stunned. He wished she wouldn't smile at him.

Fails to Get Job

He tried to get a job the next day, with no luck, and when he found a dime in the snow Charlene grabbed it, yelling "Finders keepers . . ." He was so furious, he felt like choking her. Instead he made her a big snow house on the sidewalk, right in everybody's way, but people didn't seem to mind. Then the apartment lady with her little girls stopped to admire it.

"How old are you, Harley?" she asked.

"Nine," he said proudly.

"I wonder," she smiled, "I wonder if you could take care of my little girls this afternoon?

Harley started to tell her gosh no, but she interrupted, saying she'd pay him 25c an hour, Harley was so surprised he leaned against the snow house, knocking part of it down. "Why sure, I'd be glad to," he said.

Harley worked hard that afternoon, doing everything three little girls could think of and he could build. Once in a while the lady would wave to him from the apartment window, but he was usually too busy to look up. She paid him a whole dollar and asked if he would take care of the children again the next day. Harley, tired as he was, managed to say "Yes." His mother teased him about being a baby sitter, and was he going to charge her for taking care of Charlene? Harley didn't mind; after all he had a cash capital of $1.25.

Although it rained the following day, Harley earned another dollar taking care of the little girls in the apartment.

That afternoon, with his mother's blessing, he went Christmas shopping. He felt proud to pay for the presents with money he had earned. He had the packages gift-wrapped and put them under the tree without telling his mother what he had gotten.

Christmas morning the floor was littered with gay papers, children's toys and Harley's electric train. He opened the box and put the gondola on the track. It looked keen.

Then mother handed him another package. "I bought you a gondola car a long time ago," she explained, "But of course I had to return it. I think you've earned this, though."

Harley grinned at his mother as he peeled the paper off. He knew what she meant. "A tank car!" he shouted, "Gee, mom, just what I need."

The Legends of Christmas

There are almost as many Christmas legends and superstitions as there have been Christmases. Countless customs from the Old World have been absorbed through the centuries into the celebrations that we participate in today. A few however, have been passed down from one generation to another, remaining always the same.

The Indians of Canada, for example, believe that the deer kneel in prayer each Christmas Eve. An early missionary probably is responsible for the idea, but it still lingers and wily Indians have always attempted to catch the deer in the act.

In England, it is believed that the bees express veneration for the Nativity by singing in their hives at midnight. The bee hives are always adorned with holly sprigs for the Yuletide season.

In Europe it was custom for a young girl to creep to the family woodpile on Christmas Eve and pull out the first stick that her hand touched. If the stick was a straight one, with no knots, tradition said that she would have a good husband.

Farmers in Europe also gave torches to their children and sent them singing into the apple orchards and the fields. The mice, caterpillars and moths were said to flee before the approaching songsters.

In early Germany it was a belief that water turned into wind during the hour before midnight on Christmas Eve.

Many a vacationist arrives home brag and baggage.

Xmas Observance Was Once Forbade

Did you know that the observance of Christmas was once forbidden in England—the home of the Yule Log, the Carol-singer and the wassailers?

During the Reformation many believed the undue pollity of Christmas days was sacrilegious. Parliament, on December 24, 1652, ordered that "no observance shall be held of the five and twentieth day of December, commonly called Christmas day; nor any solemnity used or exercised in churches upon that day in respect thereof."

This edict proved to be very unpopular with the masses of the people. It was not until many years later, however, that Christmas was once again regarded as a holiday.

Government officials estimate that suphur demand in the Western world is running about one million long tons a year ahead of production.

Swiss Christkindli Similar To Santa

Santa Claus plays a very insignificant part in the Swiss celebration of Christmas, observed mostly on December 24. It is Christkindli, the Christ Child, who makes the rounds of Swiss homes on Christmas Eve.

This radiant angel is said to have come from the North, traveling on fairy-like sleigh pulled by reindeer, much in the fashion of our Santa. Christkindli brings good Swiss children a beautiful tree, and many gifts. Like Santa, he stresses obedience and admonishes naughty youngsters.

Smudges on the wall and ceiling above a radiator are caused by currents of warm air rising from the radiator and carrying along the dust. The smudges would probably occur no matter what kind of fuel is used in the furnace.

SMALL TOWNS LIGHT OUTDOOR XMAS TREES

Although the White House and Rockefeller Center outdoor tree decorations have become famous in recent years, the practice of lighting outdoor trees began in smaller towns and cities long before these two displays became an annual affair.

Four widely separated communities lighted up as early as 1913. Two of them, McDonald and Germantown, were in Pennsylvania, Salem, Ore., decorated a large Sitka spruce. Riverside, Calif., illuminated a large evergreen, an Aracuria.

The first National Christmas tree was in 1924 and was sponsored by the American Forestry association. For the past two years the lighting of the White House has been televised.

"Silent Night" Is Most Beloved Carol

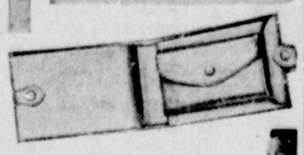

Of all the songs that return to bring warmth to the Yuletide season, no carol is so universally known as "Silent Night." Certainly no other is as loved and sung as this simple German song.

For years its origin was unknown, except that it supposedly dated back for many centuries. Recent investigations, however, disclosed that it was produced in 1818. The poem was originally written by Joseph Mohr, an assistant priest in Oberdorf in South Germany. The melody was composed by a schoolmaster, Franz Gruber.

Both the poet and the composer were part of the choir that sang the now famous carol that Christmas Eve in the Oberndorf church. The beloved song was sung first to the accompaniment of a guitar, for the church organ was out of order that Eve in 1818.

It has since been sung to the tune of almost every musical instrument in the world, in the languages of many men.

Santa through the years

It's little wonder that Saint Nick is especially generous to the American people. History proves that the Americans have done a lot for Saint Nick!

They have given him a new name, a new face and figure, and a new means of transportation.

The original European version of Saint Nick pictured him as a tall angular man who rode on a bony gray mare. Both the horse and Saint Nick looked as if they hadn't had a good meal in some time.

The early English settlers in this country started giving Saint Nicholas his "New Look." The English children adopted the legendary Christmas figure from the Dutch, but the English children had trouble pronouncing "Saint Nickolous." Somehow the name changed to "Santa Kalouf," and finally it was corrupted to "Santa Claus."

Only The Beginning

However, this was only the beginning. In 1809 Washington Irving, in his "Knickerbocker's History of New York," wrote of the Saint as the guardian of New York City. Irving described Saint Nick as a jolly fellow with a broad-brimmed hat and huge breeches. He taught Saint Nick to smoke a long pipe, and, in the story, replaced his shuffling hay-burner with a trim wagon.

A short time later, Saint Nicholas' transportation was aided by Clement Moore in his famous poem, "The Visit from Saint Nicholas," written in 1882. Moore, a professor of divinity in a New York theological seminary, gave Saint Nick a sleigh, twinkling eyes, cheeks like roses, nose like a cherry and a round little belly.

Today's Santa Claus is by no means streamlined, but he is a far cry from the lean, ascetic, somberly dressed fellow who, for centuries, on Christmas Eve, guided his mare through the streets of Europe.

DON'T HAVE A TREE FIRE THIS CHRISTMAS

Every average American home will have a Christmas tree this year. Traditional and symbolic as the trees are, they present a great fire hazard, and should be carefully watched.

Remember that when you bring a tree into the house it is going to dry up. A freshly-cut tree will not take fire any easier than the evergreen trees growing outside, but the hazard increases by the hour. For this season, it is not wise to put up the tree too early before Christmas day or to leave it too long after the 25th. Trees of all kind will become highly inflammable at the end of a week.

Families, clubs, churches or organizations that wish to keep their trees up longer than a week should take special safeguards to keep it reasonably safe.

The tree can be kept fresh by setting it up in a pan of water. Cut off the base of the tree at an angle at least one inch above the original cut and keep it standing in water during the entire period it remains in the house. It may be necessary to add water from time to time to keep the water level above the cut.

Place the tree well away from stoves, radiators, and other sources of heat. When you smoke, stay away from the tree. Also be sure that the tree is secured in such a way that it cannot fall. Do not put it near a doorway where it might block an avenue of escape, should a fire occur.

St. Francis Made First Crib In Cave

St. Francis of Assisi is believed to have originated the custom of displaying the Christ Child in a crib at Christmas time.

He is reported once to have said to one of his followers: "I wish to celebrate holy Christmas night with you. In the woods near the cloister you will find a cave where we shall arrange a manger filled with hay. He shall have an ox and an ass just as at Bethlehem. I wish to see how poor and miserable the Infant Saviour became for us."

So at Midnight, in the small Italian village of Garcia, in the year 1200, St. Francis and his followers celebrated mass at the cave and sang hymns in honor of the Christ Child.

THE OLD ALBUM

By EDWARD L. VAN DYKE

This is the story of three elderly sisters and how, on New Year's Eve, they found peace and understanding.

Aunt Sylvia—though she really wasn't my aunt at all—was the only one of the sisters who never had married. For years she lived alone in the big family home and I always liked to go there to hear her play on her big upright piano. Always she would find me a cookie or a piece of cake—the sign for me to go home.

Only Susan had had a child—and he was killed in the first world war. Both Susan and Kate lost their husbands later on and since they were equal heirs in the Hollister home and to what money was left, they came to make their home with Aunt Sylvia.

The Hollister house wasn't the same after that. Aunt Sylvia was unhappy—she never played the piano any more—and several times I caught her crying.

Meddlesome Sisters

I was only ten—but I knew what was wrong—her sisters Susan and Kate were morose and meddlesome, always complaining about something. The three would go for weeks without speaking to each other.

One day I found Aunt Sylvia crying quietly in her rocking chair. I didn't know what to do, but put my hand on her shoulder.

One day I found Aunt Sylvia crying quietly in her rocking chair.

"David," she said, "I'm so unhappy!"

Aunt Sylvia poured out the whole story then. "If we could only be sisters again," she said,

I don't know what led me to do it, but I walked over to the old cherry table in the corner where there was an album of old pictures—photographs and daguerreotypes—and started to thumb through the pages.

Aunt Sylvia came over very quickly, her clothing rustling as it always did, and took the book from my hands.

"David Balch," she said, "you've given me an idea. What day is it, David?"

I was puzzled. "Why, it's Saturday and tomorrow is New Year's," I said.

Aunt Sylvia clapsed me in her arms again. "David," she said, "can you come back at about eight o'clock tonight?"

The three of them were in the sitting room when I arrived. Aunt Sylvia had me sit at her side, close to the fireplace.

"David," said Aunt Sylvia, "will you get that album on the table? I want to tell you about some of the old pictures we've kept so many years."

Susan and Kate continued to work on the shawls they were knitting, but I could see they were dropping stitches right and left.

"Look," Aunt Sylvia went on, "that picture shows Susan when she was seventeen. She—"

"Sixteen," corrected Susan.

Rides Favorite Horse

"And here is Kate riding her favorite horse. It had a funny name—Nebubuchadrezzar—"

"Necho," corrected Kate.

"Here," said Aunt Sylvia, "are the three of us, on our way to school—"

Both Kate and Susan were right behind Aunt Sylvia now, looking over her shoulder.

"Sylvia," said Susan, "if you are going to describe those pictures, get things right. We were on your way to church."

Aunt Sylvia never batted an eye. "We were pretty good looking girls, I think," she said, as if addressing herself. "We were always together. Folks called us the Hollister Triplets, because we were so inseparable."

I looked at Kate and Susan then and was startled to to see them removing their glasses and rubbing their eyes.

"Once," said Aunt Sylvia, "we were on a sleigh ride together and—"

"It was New Year's Eve," commented Susan.

"And so is this," said Aunt Sylvia. "Not so cold a night, maybe but—"

It was Susan who broke down first. "Stop it!" she cried, so sharply I dropped the album on the floor.

The first thing I knew, Kate and Susan had their arms around Aunt Sylvia and all were crying their hearts out.

I knew it was time for me to go.

"Happy New Year, everybody," I remarked inanely. It was the only thing I could think of to say.

YULE CUSTOMS CENTURIES OLD

The exact age of the Christmas festival is not known. Records show, however, that the holiday was spoken of in the fourth century as a custom of long standing.

Christmas began as Christ's Mass or the Mass of Christ, sometime during the fourth century. It took that long after the blessed night for the great importance of Christ's birth to be realized by the people. Until this time it had been the custom of the church to celebrate the anniversaries of deaths rather than births. Christ's birthday was the first to be made an occasion for feasting.

The date for the celebration of the Christ Mass was selected by the church. So many years had elapsed that the actual date of His birth could only be a matter of conjecture.

The festival and spirit of Christmas spread through the Christian worlds. Pagan customs, even as they do today, attempted to adapt themselves to the Christmas season.

For many years after the origin of Christ's Mass the church frowned upon the practice of exchanging gifts during the festival season. Later, however, the practice was condoned, in remembrance of the spirit of the Three Kings of the Orient who had followed a shining star to the crib of the new-born Christ, bringing presents with a sense of humility.

Plant Food Keeps Needles On Trees

If you have the type of a tree-holder that permits the tree trunk to rest in water, you will find that a small amount of plant food dissolved in the water will aid in retaining the needles on the tree, and keep the needles green. If you us a pebble or rock-filled pail to support the tree, cover the pebbles or rock with a plant food solution.

Use one teaspoon of plant food, powdered form, to each gallon of water in the container, or use one plant food tablet to each gallon.

Christmas Carols Herald Yuletide

For centuries Christmas Carols have heralded the Yuletide season around the Christian world. Many of them, slightly altered by changing times and customs, have been handed down from one generation to another.

A great number probably were lost because they were popular in generations not adequately covered by a written history.

Christmas Carols are of two main types—religious and convivial. The religious offer praise to the new-born and celebrate the birth of Christ. The convivial exalt mirth and the traditional feasting.

The latter is almost an invention of our modern civilization, and few "popular" Yuletide songs manage to return year after year. "Jingle Bells" is one notable exception.

"Silent Night," "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," and "O Come All Ye Faithful" seem destined to last forever.

Dickens Described Christmas Time

Charles Dickens once referred to Christmas as "a good time; a kind, forgiving, charitable, pleasant time." This is an adequate description of the Christmas spirit. Why not make this an old fashioned Christmas?

Elaborately planned parties, those great time-takers, should not be a part of the Christmas scene. A homey, hospitable get-together will create an atmosphere in which everyone can relax.

Since Christmas is really "the children's hour," why not give them a greater part in preparing for the day? Children will get more delight from helping prepare and decorate the tree than in seeing only the finished product.

Perfect Present

By WILLARD OLVAN PERSING

The reassuring weight of the nickels and dimes in his pocket took the bite out of the raw Saturday afternoon. Surveying the street from the eminence of three dollars for the first time in his eleven years, Jimmy Sands thought it was a pretty nice world after all.

After enjoying this sense of prosperity for a few seconds, he remembered that he'd have to hurry if he wanted to hide the Christmas present before his mother woke up from her nap. A frown came over his face as he glanced around to locate his pup. Mike wasn't anywhere in sight.

He started to whistle, but his attention was caught by little Sammy Parr, big-eyed with excitement and fright running toward him.

"Hey, Jimmy!" called Sammy. "They took Mike!"

Might Is Caught

Jimmy's heart sank. He knew who 'they' meant, but he had to make sure. "Who took him?"

"The dogcatcher. Mike tried to run away, but they caught him down at the corner."

Little Sammy wiped his nose on a ragged cuff. "I didn't have time to hide him like we always did before when that old dogcatcher came around."

"I shouldn't have left him down here by himself, but I didn't want to wake Mom up." Jimmy sat down on the step and buried his face in his hands. Sure, he though, they'll keep Mike five days before they get rid of him, but a license will cost two dollars and a half.

Then he straightened up; he had three dollars in his pocket, three dollars all his own, that he had earned by running errands, selling junk and saving the few pennies that his mother had given him for candy.

If he bought a license for Mike, he wouldn't be able to buy the new purse for his mother, but he could buy a nice handkerchief or something with the fifty cents that he would have left.

Blinks Away Tears

A boy of eleven couldn't cry in front of a seven-year-old so Jimmy

A boy of eleven couldn't cry in front of a seven-year-old , so Jimmy blinked away the tears.

blinked away the tears that came when he thought of fuzzy, playful Mike being tossed into a penn full of big snarling dogs.

"I wonder if they'll feed him good?"

A sense of shame kept returning when Jimmy thought of his mother's shabby old purse. She'd had it as long as he could remember, and he had seen her stop several times to admire the shiny black one with the gold-colored clasp that was in Hoffberg's window. He had been looking forward to Christmas morning when she could carry the new one proudly to church instead of hiding the old one's shabbiness by tucking it under her arm. It just wouldn't be right to spend that money for Mike's license.

"Come on, Sammy, if you'll keep it a secret, I'll let you go with me to buy Mom's present." Maybe he could leave the purse with the landlady until after his mother had gone to work. Jimmy was glad that she wouldn't have to clean up those offices on Christmas Eve and Christmas night. . . .

Jimmy's mother smiled at him over the potatoes she was peeling for their supper. "Didn't you come up the front way?"

Tears Pour Out

"Yes." Jimmy closed the door and walked over to stare out the one window in their room.

"You didn't leave Mike out in front?"

"No—" The tears that he had been holding back poured out. "The dogcatcher took him away." Jimmy sank into a chair by the table and buried his head in his arms.

Smiling to herself, Jimmy's mother placed a comforting hand on his shoulder and said, "I think it will be all right with Santa if you get your present tonight instead of tomorrow night." She took an envelope out of the shabby purse that lay on the table. "Merry Christmas, Jimmy."

Something in her voice made Jimmy open the envelope and look inside. "Mike's license!" Jimmy grabbed his cap and started for the door.

"You had better wait till tomorrow, Jimmy. It's late, and it's a long way over to the dog pound. They'll take good care of Mike."

Nativity Basilica Built 16 Centuries

The Basilica of the Nativity at Bethlehem is one of the oldest churches in Christendom, having been built 1,620 years ago.

As it stands today it represents the original building as erected by the Emperor Constantine and restoration and additions made under Justinian.

It is surrounded by three convents of separate faiths, Greek, Latin and Armenian. All three have the privilege of worshiping in the Grotto of the Nativity, and, surprisingly enough, all three celebrate Christmas on separate occasions.

Santa's little helper came down to us from Scandinavia.

Many years before Leif Eriksen toucned American shores, the children of the North believed that a little elf with long white whiskers —Jul Tomten—saw that the earth was abundant with good food and that the animals and birds were taken care of.

After the pagan Vikings were Christianized, little Jul became the giver of presents—just as Santa today. It became a custom for children to leave a bowl of porridge on the kitchen table for the little elf, who would leave presents in exchange.

Travelers picked up the legend of Jul Tomten and carried it around the world. To us, he is the busy, jolly, good little elf who works happily in Santa's workshop.

CHRISTMAS AIDS WORLD ECONOMY

Many people, with the total exception of children, have come to believe that Christmas has become too commercial. In a spiritual sense, this is true to some extent.

Economically, however, no other holiday or festive season contributes so much to the welfare of the world. Christmas has hardly passed into the new year before thousands are at work on toys and myriads of other Christmas specialties for the next holiday. Each year, as the lights of Christmas trees twinkle on a wintry night, how many of us think of the millions who have gained employment through the Christmas shopping industry?

And yet, "too commercial" may be an overstatement. Is it too wrong, once a year, to make the dominate theme one of giving, rather than of receiving? Christmas, and the spirit of Christmas, has endured wars and great chaos through centuries as a time of joyousness and happiness, and giving has always been an important part of the festivities.

The picture of the family united, with presents opened, and children wrapped in the joyousness of Childhood's greatest emotion is still, and will remain, the Christmas story.

Old Legends Shroud Symbolism Of Tree

The origin of the Christmas tree symbol is shrouded in legends that reach back to the period of Druid tree worship long before the advent of Christianity. Credit for tree decoration and gift-giving, however, is generally given to Germany, where the customs were started in the 16th or 17th centuries. Over a period of years the practice spread into northern Europe and from there to America.

Outdoor tree decorating is essentially an American trademark and a special feature of community spirit. The best known outside displays in America are on the White House lawn and at the Rockefeller Plaza in New York city.

"SNAPDRAGON" POPULAR

A game called "snapdragon" was very popular at Christmas time in England more than 200 years ago. To a limited extent it is still played in some parts of England, as well as in America.

The original game called for a quantity of raisins to be deposited in a large bowl or dish. Brandy or some other spirit was then poured over the fruit and ignited. At a given signal, the participants attempt to snatch a raisin from the blazing bowl.

"At every Christmas party, just as things are beginning to get good, someone shuts his eyes, puts his head back and moans softly: 'Ah, well, this isn't like the good old days. We dont seem to have any good old-fashioned Christmases any more.'"

—Robert Benchley

Christmas Miracle

By MAUD McCURDY WELCH

Patti was trying to forget it was Christmas. Last Christmas there had been Jimmy and a ring on her finger. Then there was a girl named Ann and everything was over. Patti had packed up and come to this part of the city to live.

So there were no holly wreaths or Christmas trees in Patti's Pie and Bake Shop just off one of the bustling avenues. There was only Patti with her brown curls and mellow brown eyes and the long rows of pies and cakes in the showcases.

People came from all over to buy Patti's cakes and pies and drink her coffee. There was the little old lady who sold magazines on the corner, who came in every day.

She was the first to come in on Christmas Day, and she was lugging a big wreath of holly and mistletoe. "Hang it in the window, dearie," she said.

Has Sorrowful Feeling

Patti looked at the wreath and a sick pain caught at her heart.

Then there was the telephone operator who worked in a branch exchange, and later the little boy who always stopped by from school. He had such sad blue eyes it made Patti's heart ache. Patti always gave him a huge slice of pie and he ate it with relish, but the sad bewilderment of his eyes never seemed to go away.

When he saw the wreath his eyes brightened. "Gee, that's pretty."

When he saw the wreath, his eyes brightened. "Gee, that's pretty. You goin' to have a Christmas tree too, Mis' Patti?"

Patti started to say no, but choked. Instead she asked, "Don't you have a Christmas tree, Tommy?"

Trim Xmas Tree

He shook his head. Patti said, her voice still choky, "Then we'll have one here. You can help me trim it."

In no time at all the tree was up and they were trimming it. In spite of her stern efforts, Patti was conscious of a slow excitement. Tommy asked if she believed in that Kris Kringle stuff, and she had to stop to think before answering. At last she said, "Yes, Tommy, I—I think I do. Kris Kringle may be just a symbol, but he's really alive in the hearts and spirits of hundreds of people all over the world."

Tommy's blue eyes grew bright. "Then do you think if I told him I only wanted my daddy back, and nothing else, he would bring him back to us? My mommy told him to go, but she didn't mean it. Now she's sick, but if Daddy would come back, we'd both be happy and she'd be well."

An idea was slowly dawning in Patti's mind. "We'll see what we can do, Tommy," she promised.

Patti hurried like mad and got a personal ad. in the late edition of one of the big dailies. It read:

"Mr. Thomas Baker, please call at Patti's Pie & Cake Shop at once."

Beautiful Light

Patti waited and waited. The little shop was brightly lighted and the Christmas tree was a beautiful sight to see.

But no one came. Everything had been sold, so Patti was putting out the lights when a tall young man walked in. He said, "I may be the Thomas Baker you're looking for. Of course I don't know."

Patti just felt it in her bones that he was the right one. She said, "Do you have a wife by the name of Margaret and a little boy named Tommy?"

"Yes, yes, I do."

"Then you're the right Thomas Baker. They want you to come home."

"Are you sure Margaret wants me too?" The young man's eyes were suddenly full of hope.

Patti nodded. "I'm very sure," and the young man thanked her, turned to go and almost collided with another tall young man who had just come in. He was looking at Patti with his whole heart in his eyes. "The minute I saw that personal, I was sure it was you. No one ever spelled Patty with an 'i' as you do." Then he reached for her hands. "Patti, won't you forgive me for thinking I could ever love another girl? Won't you let me put this ring where it belongs?"

Patti was choked up with happiness as he slipped the ring on her finger. "Finding you is like a Christmas miracle," he whispered as he took her in his arms.

Tradition Says Tree Originated In Egypt

The Christmas tree, now almost a universal symbol, probably came to America from Germany, although tradition has it that Christmas trees originated in Egypt. The palm tree is supposed to put forth a branch every month, and a spray of this tree, with 12 shoots on it, was used in Egypt.

German writers mention the tree as early as 1605. The German prince Albert, consort of Queen Victoria, introduced the Christmas tree in England when he had a tree for his daughter.

Story Of Naming Santa Claus, Ind.

Although many towns have names directly or indirectly associated with Christmas, there is but one town named Santa Claus, in Indiana.

Except for a lucky break, the town would have had another name and hence would not have enjoyed the annual fame that it gathers around the Yuletide season.

The original intention to name the town Santa Fe fell through when the officials at Washington suggested that the town be named something else, since there was already a Santa Fe in New Mexico.

On Christmas Eve, in 1882, the citizens held a mass meeting to select another name, but every one proposed was discarded for one reason or another. The meeting was about to break up when Santa Claus, making his yearly visits in the neighborhood, strode in to get warm. He was in costume and his arrival put one name in every mind.

And so the town was named Santa Claus.

It is thought that St. Nicholas died about 345 A.D., and for 30 days following his festival day his genial spirit roamed the earth, filling the hearts of mankind with love and generosity. He gave the gifts without thought of return—the true spirit of St. Nicholas and Christmas.

To hold all the natural gas in America's 314,000 miles of pipelines would require 100 tanks the size of the Empire State Building in New York or a single tank half a city block in diameter and 30 miles high.

By ANNA YARBROUGH

Ella Cloud stood back and eyed the tree with approval. Honestly, she thought, it's beautiful, even if it is more a New Year's tree than a Christmas tree. A surge of joy rushed through her. Mary would soon be home. Any minute now, Charles would be back from the hospital with her. Ella looked anxiously about the charming living room; everything must be done to make Mary's New Year a happy one.

Ella sank tiredly down in a chair, and covered her eyes with her plump hands. Two years since that awful day of the accident, but it seemed as vivid as yesterday. It was late afternoon when she got that message that her daughter had been in a traffic accident. The mad race to the hospital had been a nightmare. They wouldn't let her see Mary. She was glad, now, that they hadn't.

Mary Was Bitter

She felt tears trickle between her fingers. Mary had been bitter; wanted to die. And absolutely refused to see anyone, not even her mother, or Charles or little Charlie.

Then the operations began, one after another, until that happy day when Mary consented to see her. How precious Mary looked. Her blond curls spilled over her pillow. The doctors had performed miracles. Little by little they had built Mary's face up again.

Ella heard a car stop, then footsteps coming up the walk.

The front door opened. Tall handsome Charles, and Mary stood in the doorway. Then Mary was in Ella's arms, and she was saying, "Oh, Honey, we're glad to have you home."

Fuss Over Mary

Mary was brought into the house, fussed over almost as much as a brand-new baby, and finally was settled comfortably in a big chair. Not until the first wave of the homecoming excitement had passed was she able to bring herself to express the uneasiness that had been in her heart all day.

"Aw, Mom," he said, "aw, your nose."

There was a catch in Mary's voice when she asked, "Where's little Charlie?"

Suddenly fear choked Ella. She wished she had cautioned little Charlie not to mention his mother's face, but it was too late now.

"He—he went to a party," Ella said as she helped settle Mary on the divan.

A blare of children's voices sounded, "Good-night, Charlie," then Little Charlie's, "Good-night."

The door burst open, and Little Charlie stood, in all his eight-year-old inquisitiveness, and stared at his mother.

The child's countenance fell.

"Aw, Mom," he said, "Aw! Your nose!"

Prays Silently

Ella said hurriedly, "It's a nice nose. Isn't it, Charlie?" Silently she was praying, "Oh, God, make him say the right thing."

Little Charlie's face twisted into a frown, "I don't see anything especially nice about it. It looks just like the nose Mom always had. And I've invited all the kids over tomorrow to see Mom's doctor-made nose. Now, Butch Mitchell's going to tease me something awful."

Suddenly, Mary began to laugh. The tears trickled down her pale cheeks. She was laughing as she had thousands of times before the accident, wholeheartedly.

Little Charlie said dejectedly, "It ain't nothing to laugh about. I thought sure you'd come back from the hospital with something to show."

Mary stopped, laughed, thought a second, then asked solemnly "Would two toes off do?"

Charlie Brightens

Little Charlie's expression brightened, "Honest, Mom?"

Quickly Mary slipped off her shoes, then hose, and held up one pretty, slender foot, "See," she said.

Two small toes were neatly amputated.

"Gollee!" Little Charlie grinned. "That'll do just fine, Mom."

Mary was laughing again, and hugging her young son.

To keep from bursting into tears of pure joy, Ella asked, "How do you like the New Year's tree, Charlie?"

Little Charlie shrugged, "It'll do," he said with a grin.

Big Charles' arms were around Mary. He answered, "Mother, that's a beautiful tree, but not as beautiful as our Mary."

Ella smiled. It was going to be a Happy New Year for Mary.

Religion And Law Protect Cedars

On a shelf-like plateau, 600 feet above the Mediterranean, the world's oldest Christmas trees stand where they have stood for centuries. The cedars of Lebanon, 400 of them, are protected by religion and law from harm at the hands of either the Moslems or the Maronite Christians.

The magnificent trees "that sing of the Nativity" were venerated as monarchs among trees long before Judah had her first king. Some of them have a girth of 40 feet and a branch circumference of 300.

In the days of the conquerors thousands of conscripted Hebrew workers were sent into the Lebanons to take to Jerusalem "cedar trees without number"; the result of one of the first building contracts, between Hiram of Phoenicia and King Solomon.

Today, however, the trees are protected by law and the department of agriculture of the government sponsors the planting of seedlings, so that the giant cedars will grow forever.

Holly Possesses Many Superstitions

Husbands and wives! Attention! There is an old superstition about holly that will interest you. It was a belief of the ancients that the first to bring Christmas holly into the house, either husband or wife, would be the one to rule the household during the ensuing year.

But don't put too much stock in the belief. Like other Christmas legends, the truth might be lost in history.

The Druids were great admirers of the holly plant. They believed that its evergreen leaves attested to the fact that it was never deserted by the sun, and was therefore sacred.

Legends have related how the crown of thorns was plaited from holly. The leaves of the plant were white until the Crucifixion, after which they turned a deep, blood red.

A holly wreath placed on the door is believed enough to frighten away even the boldest of witches.

The only time some people rise to the occasion is when they blow up

Needle in a haystack
A customer writes: "We asked the Long Distance operator to locate a man at some point between a Newark terminal warehouse and Pier 3 in Hoboken. It was a difficult job to find this man and required 24 hours. We want to congratulate you on the courteous and thorough manner in which the call was handled."
That's a good example of the kind of service you get on the Long Distance lines. And today those lines are performing an even bigger job in helping to speed production and guard the nation's security.
Meet "The Other Fellow"
There's nothing extraordinary about him. He's just the ordinary man-in-the-street. He could be the neighbor down your street . . . a fellow who treats other folk the way he'd like them to treat him. That's why he's such a good party-line neighbor. It doesn't take any great effort on his part. Just little things like "scattering" a list of calls and answering promptly. Little things that make a very big difference in better service for all.

There's been a big change—all round
Farms today are producing more than ever. And that didn't just happen. There's a reason for it, a reason that gets more done faster—and better. That reason is modern methods and machinery. Take the farm telephone—it's ready to save time and money in a hundred different ways. It buys. It sells. It's there for business. There for pleasure. And the service is growing daily with modern equipment, and new-type instruments. There's been a big change, a change for the better—for you.

Fairy tales and Christmas stories are a Yuletide tradition. It is thus fitting that the story which promises to be Americas most popular and long-lived fairy tale is related to the Christmas season.

Once upon a time there was a reindeer with a built-in flashlight bulb for a nose. You know, Rudolph, the red-nosed reindeer. From a small beginning in 1938, the little animal with the built-in beacon has become as familiar as Humpty-Dumpty and Cinderella to youngsters everywhere.

First invented as a sales give-away promotion for Montgomery Ward by Robert L. May, Rudolph was featured in many free booklets before he became associated with Christmas. Songwriter Johnny Marks liked the title "Rudolph, the Red Nosed Reindeer," so he wrote a song about it. He was so sure he had a success that he started his own publishing company, using "Rudolph" as his first release. Gene Autry made the initial recording, and that one record sold 2,000,000 copies.

Last year there were 16 different recordings of the song for sale, ranging from boogie-woogie by Sugar Chile Robinson to Bing Crosby, and cowboy singers.

XMAS GREENS BRIGHTEN HOME

A few well placed Christmas greens can do much to brighten a house at Christmas time. Properly clipped, the branches will never be missed, and might improve the looks of the tree from which they are cut.

Hemlock, red cedar, juniper, yew, pitch pine, white pine, will make suitable material for a spray to decorate a mantle, door, or a spray for a newel post.

In pruning, however, keep in mind the natural appearance of the tree from which you clip branches.

LIVING ROOM SUITE
$139.00 2-pc.

The ideal Christmas Gift. There is nothing more important than a stunning luxurious living room suite. Be rightfully proud of your home this Christmas!

Of all the holiday delicacies, none carries more of the old-time traditions and associations of good eating and festivity than mince pie.

Many writers give credit for its origination to Germany, while others claim that its beginning is lost in the annals of history.

English literature dating to the 15th century is full of references to this Christmas favorite, an essential part of Yuletide celebrations in England.

Old superstitions held that any person refusing to eat mince pie would be unlucky for the coming year. Should he accept the invitation, and partake of mince pie, he would have the same number of happy months during the year as the number of houses at which he ate mince pie.

The oriental character of the spices and flavoring was said to represent the rich gifts of the wise men to the Christ Child.

Cowboy's Party Is Real American Fete

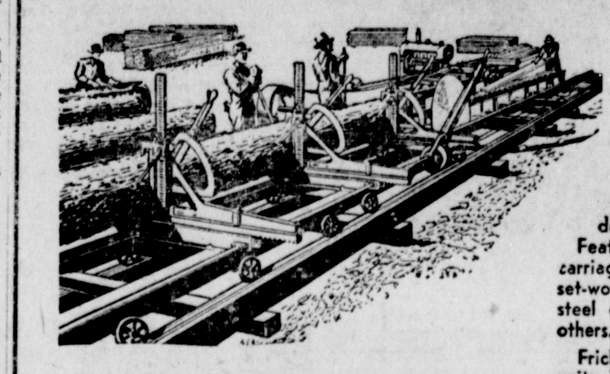

One of the most typical of our American holiday celebrations is the Cowboy's Christmas Ball, which has been held almost every year since 1884 in the small town of Anson, Texas.

The celebration started as a wedding party in the old Star Hotel when ranchers poured in from the widely scattered ranges to honor one Cross P. Charley and his bride. It was such a success that it was repeated year after year.

Christmas Eve brought the spirit of the old West to Anson. Cowboys donned their colorful dress, their gay shirts and decorated boots. Cowgirls outfitted themselves in gingham dresses "like mother wore." A cowboy band swung out and the dancers perform the heel and toe polka, the Varsouvienne, and other old folk dances.

Aesop, author of the book of fables, was a slave.

"What do people mean by sending you a dozen Christmas cards during the festive season, and not deigning to send you three lines by way of a letter the rest of the year?"
—J. Ashby-Sterry

How to make old roads seem NEW

PICK a road that you know by heart. Not too good a road. One that has some bumps—some unbanked turns—a tough hill or two.

Then get in touch with us, and let us put you behind the wheel of a Buick, with Dynaflow Drive.*

Now you're all set for a new experience. You'll find out this:

Those bumps seem to lose their bobble. You just take them with a smooth and level stride.

Those unbanked turns don't seem so sharp, and those hills seem almost to flatten out.

How come? Well, a lot of things are different when you travel in a Buick. You're riding on big, soft coil springs that let every wheel dance beneath you, without passing on the jolts to you in the car.

You're driving a car that's plenty inches broader than it is high—a sure-footed road-hugger if there ever was one.

And you're riding behind a Fireball Engine—Buick's time-tested version of a high-compression valve-in-head—an engine that packs more power than most people ever need to use.

With this power—and Dynaflow Drive*—you don't have to "rush" a hill at the bottom to soar serenely over the top. You just feed the power as you need it—climb with a sure, steady swoop without buck or bobble all the way up.

There's a lot more that we could tell you about a Buick. But such things as room, and comfort, the confident way it steers, and the way it shortens the miles are things you can best discover from personal experience.

So why not follow the routine already suggested? You supply the road—we'll supply the car—and let it speak for itself.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.
Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.*

CHRISTMAS QUOTAS

"Christmas is the time you decide to pay your doctor something on account. You know you will need him the day after."

—Walter Pulitzer

The practice of holding "open house" has been a Christmas tradition through the years.

The Saxon lords threw open the doors of their great halls to peasant and noble alike during the festive season and all enjoyed great feasting, songs and the exchange of gifts. A tremendous Yule log was dragged upon an open fire pit and festivities lasted until the embers alone remained.

The same custom was followed in the pre-Civil War South. The slaves often soaked a log in the cypress swamps long before Christmas so that it would burn slowly, and extend their Christmas freedom.

"Open House" during the Yuletide season is a true mark of democracy and a realization that He Who was born on Christmas day came to save all men.

The first flag of the colonists to have any resemblance to the present Stars and Stripes was the Grand Union flag. It consisted of 13 stripes, alternately red and white, with a blue field in the upper left hand corner bearing the crosses of St. George and St. Andrew.

CHRISTMAS WEDDING

By MAUD McCURDY WELCH

Jean knew that Hawkeye, the store detective, was keeping his eyes on Jimmy, and she couldn't help feeling worried.

Jean and Jimmy were engaged. They were going to be married as soon as Jimmy got a raise. They both worked in the Mammoth Store and were saving everything they could to buy furniture for their future home.

Hawkeye was exactly like the detectives made famous by the movies. Hard, gimlet eyes, black cigars, derby tilted on his head. It was his boast that nobody ever got by with stealing in this store. It was this boast that had given him the nickname of Hawkeye.

But why, oh, why should he suspect Jimmy of doing anything wrong? It was true his salary was small, but he would be promoted soon, Jean was sure of that.

Had Wistful Hope

Jean had had a wistful hope that they might have a Christmas wedding, but Jimmy's raise hadn't come through. In the meantime, they were carefully budgeting their combined salaries and had bought an expensive piece of electrical equipment for their home. That had been a thrill.

When they were married Jimmy was determined that Jean shouldn't work. Jimmy himself had been brought up in a wonderful home, with many advantages, but it had all been lost. Jean had come up the hard way. She'd been orphaned and had gone to work at fifteen.

But they were getting along fine now and had wonderful hopes of soon really belonging to each other. Jimmy's salary as head of the notion department in the basement wasn't large, but Jean knew he'd get a better one soon.

Business was brisk and steady since it was now the week before Christmas Day. Jean and Jimmy walked home together when the store closed, as they usually did, almost too tired for a movie or a walk along the river. They didn't allow themselves many pleasures and sometimes were so tired, they just said goodnight at the door of Jean's rooming house. Jimmy lived a number of blocks further down the street.

Jean Laughed Teasingly

But they'd always have a little time together when the store closed. Once every week Jean would say, "Did you bring your bundle?" And Jimmy would say he simply couldn't. But Jean would laugh at him teasingly. "Honestly, Jimmy, I want to do it for you," and at last he'd give in.

Jean hadn't the slightest idea that old Hawkeye had seen her hand Jimmy a long, flat package one day when he'd been working late in the stock-room. She'd done this before since it was the most convenient way. And Hawkeye was always snooping around. He'd even overheard Jean and Jimmy talking one day. Jean was saying, "You must bring the things to me. It's helping us to get ahead. And nobody will ever know."

Jimmy had said, "But, honey, it's not right."

Jean had laughed. "I only do it because I love you. You know that."

Husky With Love

Jimmy's voice was husky with love. "You're so sweet, Jean, I believe you'd do anything for me."

And all the time Hawkeye was keeping his gimlet eyes on Jimmy. But Jean knew he hadn't done anything wrong.

And then the next time Jean handed Jimmy the long flattish package (Jimmy was working late that night again), they both felt a heavy hand on their shoulders. Hawkeye said, "You two kids come with me."

He took them to Mr. Purvis, the store owner. "It's a clean case, boss." Hawkeye opened the package. "Ha, shirts. Just what I thought. She steals them for him."

Mr. Purvis said tiredly, "They're not new. They're freshly laundered."

Jimmy's face was crimson, but Jean said proudly, "We're engaged, Mr. Purvis, and Jimmy has to have so many clean shirts. It's so duty in the basement, so I launder them for him."

Well, it was a clean case at that, and what was more Jimmy received his promotion right then and there, and Mr. Purvis gave them three days off, so they had a Christmas wedding after all.

CUSTOMS OF NATIONS VARY ON XMAS DAY

In nearly all of the civilized world December 25 is a red letter day. Peoples of all nationalities and religions celebrate the birth of Christ. The customs of the many nations are as varied as the peoples and their faiths are different.

In the Scandinavian countries, a Christmas tree, made of a sheaf of wheat bound to a pole, is raised for the winter birds. In Norway, rice pudding is always an important item on the menu for the Christmas dinner. One almond is baked in the pudding and the person who finds the almond in his portion is always the first to get married.

Chinese children make odd stockings by sewing three pieces of muslin together, and hang them up on Christmas Eve to hold the gifts brought by Lan Khoong-Khoong, which means "Nice Old Father" to them, Santa Claus to us.

The "old-fashioned" American Christmas, while reflecting the traditions of many countries, most closely resembles the traditional English Christmas, complete with plum pudding, mistletoe, carolers.

Plum Pudding Came Far Since Origin

Plum pudding — the ancient English delicacy traditionally served with Christmas feasts—has come a long way since it entered the culinary lists hundreds of years ago as Yule-dough.

Yule-dough was composed of chopped meat paste, spices, to symbolize the gifts of the Magi, and flour, regarded as embodying the spirit immanent in the wheat.

US ROYAL TIRES

To the causal observer, it is just another typical night in Bethlehem, sleepy town of many generations. Excepting, of course, that the population is more than double, for all the descendants of David have come to register as ordered by Herod. For many, there is no room.

And yet, there is more about this night! And there are some whose faith and wisdom give them eyes to see. Near the hour of midnight, a darkened sky suddenly shimmers with a light of ethereal beauty, and angels appear to sing a great psalm:

"Glory in the highest,
And on earth, peace to men of good will."

A new star fires itself to brilliance near the edge of town, bathing in its light the stable where a Galilean carpenter named Joseph has taken refuge with his bride, a queenly young girl named Mary. For them, there had been no room.

The star rests above the humble shelter, sending down golden rays that illuminate the area in a strange, unearthly manner.

In the distance appear a group of Magi, wise men of Persia. They have followed the now resting star and are heavily laden with gifts of gold—presents for a new-born king.

Christmas Lecture . . . "Now this is a Christmas tree," big brother appears to be telling the toddler. "It grows in the living room only once a year, and it always has a lot of nice presents under it."

Along the roads hear the shouts of the citizens, led by angels, who come to adore.

There in the stable, wrapped in swaddling clothes and laid in a manger, the Christ-child awaits.

VARIED GAMES GOOD FOR XMAS

Christmas is the time for family get-togethers. One of the best ways to make these gatherings memorable for all concerned is to engage in games which the whole group can play.

A nice one to start off with would be a Sugar Plum Hunt. Have one member of the family hide Christmas candies ahead of time in various nooks and corners around the house. At a given signal everyone starts hunting and gathering the pieces. The one who gathers the greatest number would be given a prize.

The Christmas Puzzle is another good one to get things going. Look through some magazines, which are filled with pictures of Santa Claus at this time of year. Cut out enough of these to go around, paste them on stiff cardboard, and cut them into pieces. Then put each group of pieces in a separate paper bag. At the signal, everyone opens a bag and starts putting the puzzle together.

The Xmas Scramble Contest is good for a group with older children in it. This is simply a contest to see who can unscramble a group of words the fastest. Just for fun, see if you can work out the following—astna, erireden, ehsgil, dynca, gosiknct, erte, trepsen, hupnc, alsore and niborb.

Balsam Recommended As Best Yule Tree

In choosing a Christmas tree, many look for trees that will not shed needles quickly indoor. Highly recommended are balsam and Douglas firs, which usually will hold their needles as long as two or three weeks in a warm house.

Balsam is fragrant beyond all other Christmas trees, has long lower branches and thick spire-like top. Its needles do not stab the hand. Like the needles of all firs, they are usually flattened, not squarish.

For longer life, place the tree outdoors in a bucket of water for 24 hours before putting it up, or place in a waterproof container of wet sand and keep the sand moist.

The flag that flew over Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941, was raised over the White House August 8, 1945.

Old Church Bells Call Congregation

A pair of ancient church bells, brought to Frankenmuth, Mich., from Bavaria shortly after Frankenmuth was founded as an Indian mission, has been calling the congregation of St. Lorenz to Christmas eve services for more than a 100 years.

Ninety-five per cent of the residents of the small community are members of the church, earning the village title of "the most Christian community in the United States."

Frankenmuth has never had a crime of violence, and, as far as residents can remember, no one has been jailed over a period of 25 years. The only visitors to the lockup were transients given a night's lodging.

How to make old roads seem NEW

PICK a road that you know by heart. Not too good a road. One that has some bumps—some unbanked turns—a tough hill or two.

Then get in touch with us, and let us put you behind the wheel of a Buick, with Dynaflow Drive.*

Now you're all set for a new experience. You'll find out this:

Those bumps seem to lose their bobble. You just take them with a smooth and level stride.

Those unbanked turns don't seem so sharp, and those hills seem almost to flatten out.

How come? Well, a lot of things are different when you travel in a Buick. You're riding on big, soft coil springs that let every wheel dance beneath you, without passing on the jolts to you in the car.

You're driving a car that's plenty inches broader than it is high—a sure-footed road-hugger if there ever was one.

And you're riding behind a Fireball Engine – Buick's time-tested version of a high-compression valve-in-head—an engine that packs more power than most people ever need to use.

With this power – and Dynaflow Drive* – you don't have to "rush" a hill at the bottom to soar serenely over the top. You just feed the power as you need it – climb with a sure, steady swoop without buck or bobble all the way up.

There's a lot more that we could tell you about a Buick. But such things as room, and comfort, the confident way it steers, and the way it shortens the miles are things you can best discover from personal experience.

So why not follow the routine already suggested? You supply the road—we'll supply the car – and let it speak for itself.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.
*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.

ROSEMARY... for Remembrance

The rosemary shrub, symbol of fidelity and constancy, was once supposed to possess many occult virtues. Hamlet's Ophelia said, "There's rosemary, that's for remembrance." The fact that rosemary blooms at Christmas has introduced it into celebration of this feast.

Rosemary, according to one legend, opened to hide the Virgin Mary and her child from the soldiers of Herod, a legend shared with the juniper and other trees.

Another legend says that, during the flight to Egypt, Mary threw her blue cloak over a bush of rosemary when she lay down to rest. Ever since, in her honor, the flowers have been the heavenly blue of the mantle.

Tree Decorations Came From Arabia

When you fasten the ornaments to your Christmas tree this year you will be commemorating a centuries-old Arabian legend that relates how plants blossomed and flowered and trees miraculously bore ripened fruit on the eve of the first Christmas.

In fact, the Christmas tree itself stems from the story of a Scandinavian "sacred" tree and Martin Luther, a German, is said to have brought the first one indoors and decorated it for the Yule season in the early 16th century.

These are only two of more than a score of legends from which today's Christmas symbols and customs stem. According to Jeannette Lee, who has probed their origin for nearly a dozen years, the American Christmas symbols—from candles and bells to kissing under the mistletoe—have no common nationality. They have come from all parts of the world.

Mrs. Lee, who is supervisor of creative art for a greeting card company, constantly utilizes the traditions and emblems of the festival as ornaments for Christmas cards and is just as constantly searching for new ones. This year for example, the bright-colored tree ornaments are in high vogue as decorative devices on Christmas cards.

The first Marine Corps recruiting station was a smokefilled waterfront rendezvous known as Tun Tavern on South Water Street in Philadelphia.

FIVE QUALITIES NEEDED IN TOYS

If you wish your child to get the most available from this year's toys, be sure to look for the five major qualities recommended by specialists.

Toys to be thoroughly satisfying for the small fry should have five major qualities, say specialists at the college of home economics, Cornell.

First, toys should be durable to withstand the rough and tumble of any one child and his playmates. Sturdy toys can be repaired and repainted and passed on for the enjoyment of other youngsters, in or out of the family.

Toys should be simple and easy to handle and operate. Simple playthings are more likely to hold interest through long child-hours and less likely to be shelved permanently.

Toys should be safe to use—without sharp corners or rough places or poor paint that might be harmful to a youngster. And toys should be washable.

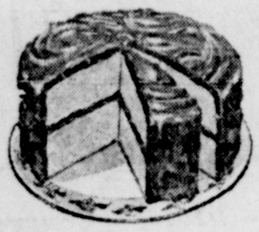

Finally, toys should have what the specialists call a "do-with" quality. Good old stand-bys such as wagons, blocks, clay, sand, finger paints, and the like may fit into the child's interest of the moment.
